THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

The University of Wisconsin–Madison, one of the world's leading institutions of higher education, is dedicated to the support of academic freedom.

Established in 1848, the first class of 17 students assembled February 5, 1849. Today, the UW–Madison includes 13 schools and colleges, 133 academic departments, more than 43,000 students and 14,000 employees, nearly 4,000,000 volumes in 22 libraries, a $750,000,000 budget, and research and development expenditures totalling $185,000,000 (third largest in the U.S.).

Wisconsin has ranked among the top ten universities in the United States in every scholarly reputational study since 1910. More than 4,100 courses and 12,600 sections are offered. Majors are available in 151 bachelor's, 191 master's, and 123 doctor's degree programs.

UW–Madison departments ranked among the top ten in the nation in the 1980s include Sociology (1st), German, Chemical Engineering and Geography (2nd), Statistics (4th), Plant Pathology, Molecular Biology and Biochemistry (5th), Spanish and Portuguese (6th), Zoology (7th), Political Science, Chemistry and Economics (8th), Mathematics (9th), and History (10th).

The UW's international activities extend the boundaries of the campus to all parts of the globe. The campus has about 3,600 foreign students from 125 countries, offers some 50 foreign languages for study, and has the largest overall number of international studies faculty and largest number of faculty of any university in East Asian, South and Southeast Asian, African and Latin American studies. Junior-year-abroad programs are offered for students going to Brazil, China, England, France, West Germany, Hungary, Israel, India, Italy, Spain, Sweden, Norway, Nepal, Thailand and Mexico and Quebec for summer study.

The UW's Center for Health Sciences is one of the Midwest's leading centers for patient care, education of physicians and other health professionals, research and public service. It includes the Medical,

THE UW SPORTS NEWS STAFF

Your hosts in the Camp Randall Stadium Communications Center and at all home University of Wisconsin men's athletic events are JIM MOTT, Sports Information Director, BOB LEU, Radio-TV Director, and DOUG SPENCER, Assistant Sports Information Director.

Jim Mott

Bob Leu

Doug Spencer

JIM MOTT marks his 24th year as sports information director at the University of Wisconsin in 1989-90.

A Madison native, Jim was elected to the prestigious CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) Hall of Fame in 1979. He is also a past president of both CoSIDA and the Madison Pen and Mike Club.

In 1986, Mott was honored with the distinguished Arch Ward award—presented by CoSIDA for longtime meritorious service to the sports information profession. Jim marks his 36th year overall in sports information work in 1989-90.

Mott served as Wisconsin's basketball manager for four years while an undergraduate at the UW, earning a major "W" award for his work. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Zoology from Wisconsin in 1951, and then spent the next two years in the United States Army—including 16 months of service in Korea.

He and his wife, Dorothy, are the parents of three sons—Bill, 27, David, 24, and Eric, 22, and the grandparents of James William, ten-month-old son of Dr. William Mott and Dr. Julie Skinner-Mott, both in residency at UW Hospitals.

Dave, a 1988 graduate of UW School of Pharmacy, is a Waukesha, WI pharmacist. Eric is completing work on an undergraduate degree from UW School of Business.

BOB LEU, now in his 17th year with the UW athletic program, serves as the department's radio-television/marketing director.

Leu joined the UW Athletic Department in September of 1973 from WHA-TV where he had served as producer-director and director of sports.

A native of Milwaukee, Bob handles all radio and television contracts for the UW Athletic Department, assists in the coordination of athletic marketing programs, and has been the producer of Wisconsin's post-season football, basketball and hockey highlight films. He has also done color commentary on Wisconsin hockey broadcasts, and has served as producer-host of Badger Football on the state's public television stations.

Leu is a 1960 graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Speech. A past president of the Madison Pen and Mike Club, Bob and his wife Janis have three children, daughter Dawn, married daughter Amie, and son Adam.

DOUG SPENCER enters his seventh year as assistant sports information director and eighth year overall with the University of Wisconsin athletic program this fall.

A 1976 graduate of Western Michigan University with a Bachelor of Arts in English and Journalism, Spencer spent his first year at the UW (1982-83) as an administrative assistant to Badger hockey coach Jeff Sauer and was with Wisconsin's 1983 NCAA Championship hockey team.

Prior to arriving at the UW, Spencer was the publicity and publications director for the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States in Colorado Springs from 1979-81, and was assistant sports information director at both his alma mater, Western Michigan University (1977-79), and Eastern Michigan University (1976-77).

Born in East Lansing, Michigan, Doug and his wife, Caroline, were married in July of 1987. She is a Madison native, a 1984 graduate of Purdue University, and is employed as a sales and marketing director in town.

FOR MEDIA COVERING WISCONSIN FOOTBALL

COMMUNICATIONS CENTER
The University of Wisconsin's working facilities for press, radio and television—the Communications Center—are located in the upper deck on the west side of Camp Randall Stadium and can be reached from Breese Terrace via the elevator at Gate 6. Radio and television broadcast booths are located on level three while print media should report to level four.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS
All requests for Communications Center tickets must first be placed with the UW Sports News Service Office, at least one week in advance. Upon acceptance of applications, appropriate tickets are either mailed or held for pickup at the Press Will Call Window at the ground level entrance to the Stadium at Gate 6, Section E. Working press tickets contain assigned seat locations.

PRESS BOX SERVICES
Game programs, two-deep flip cards, game-day notes and statistics are provided to members of the working press prior to kickoff. A buffet-style lunch is also served to attending media. Complete game statistics and play-by-play accounts will be furnished to each working location—or as requested.

RADIO
Visiting radio stations wishing to broadcast from Camp Randall Stadium should contact the UW Sports News Service at least one week prior to the game they wish to cover. Each radio station admitted to Camp Randall Stadium for broadcasting by signed contract will be issued five booth tickets. Booths are assigned and tickets are mailed upon receipt of necessary fees and a signed contract. If tickets are not mailed, they may be picked up in advance at the UW Sports News Service Office, or on game day at the Press Will Call Window.

PHOTOGRAPHERS
Field photo passes are limited to daily newspaper, wire service, and television photographers who may work from assigned space in booths on the Radio-TV level, or from the east or west sidelines (except between the 30 yard lines) and beyond the end zone.

PARKING AT THE STADIUM
A limited number of parking passes for Lots 18 and 19 (directly adjacent to Camp Randall Stadium) are available to working media only. They will be issued as requested and as available, on a first-come, first-served basis. Contact the Sports News Service for information.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS
Wisconsin player interviews may be obtained following practice each weekday, Monday through Thursday—at approximately 6:00 pm. Out of town media should arrange interviews ahead of time through the UW Sports News Service office, (608) 262-1811. On game days, media representatives will be able to interview Wisconsin players in the Badger locker-room following a short post-game meeting of the squad and coaches.

Post-game interviews of visiting coaches will be conducted near the opponents dressing room.

INTERVIEWING THE HEAD COACH
Coach Don Morton will meet with media representatives following each game after a short post-game meeting with team and coaches. The post-game interview session with Coach Morton will be held in the McClain Athletic Facility Auditorium.

Coach Morton will conduct a press and telephone conference for local media each Monday at 12 noon central time during the season in the "W" Club Room in Camp Randall Stadium. A light lunch will be served.

On Tuesdays throughout the season, Coach Morton will take part in the Big Ten Telephone Conference. (Media wishing to take part in this teleconference should phone the Big Ten Service Bureau in Schaumburg, Illinois at 312-605-8933 to secure the appropriate phone number and further details.)

Morton will also usually be available each weekday immediately before and/or after practice. Practice will start daily at approximately 4:00 pm.

RADIO COVERAGE OF UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN FOOTBALL

Beginning with the 1989 season, exclusive coverage of all University of Wisconsin Football games will be provided by WTMJ RADIO (620 AM) in Milwaukee. Veteran sportscaster Jim Irwin will call the play-by-play while retired UW athletic director and former Badger football standout Elroy 'Crazylegs' Hirsch will handle the color. WTMJ RADIO will provide an exclusive, statewide network of some 35 radio stations for all Badger games, both home and away. In Madison, WTMJ awarded the exclusive rights to University of Wisconsin Football games to WTSO RADIO (1070 AM).

1989 WISCONSIN FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

The University of Wisconsin should have a much stronger defense and a more flexible offense in 1989 as the Badgers enter their third year under Coach Don Morton. The Badgers return eight defensive starters and four offensive regulars from a year ago. Morton will build around 36 letterwinners in all, 18 on defense, 15 on offense, and three specialists.

"In the future our coaching staff and players will look back at Spring Football 1989 as a very special spring," said Morton. "I think we saw a group of young people really come together as a football team. There was more contact, more intensity, more excitement and less injuries than in previous springs.

"We are especially pleased with the progress and depth being developed on defense. Two years ago the Badger defense had eight freshmen and sophomores starting. Well, those same people are now juniors and seniors with a tremendous amount of physical and mental maturity. There was great competition at most positions."

Tentative returning defensive starters are Dan Kissling at the SAM, or outside linebacker position, John Banaszak at noseguard, Don Davey at defensive end, Malvin Hunter at inside linebacker, Rafael Robinson at monster, LaMarr White and Eddie Fletcher, Jr at the cornerbacks, and Greg Thomas at safety.

Banaszak at noseguard and Davey at end give the prospects for the defensive line a positive note for 1989. Banaszak has 18 consecutive starts under his belt heading into the fall campaign, has played in all 22 games the past two years, and contributed 45 tackles in 1988. He earned himself All-Big Ten honorable mention honors last year and was the Badgers' defensive player of the week vs Illinois. Davey, a two-time GTE First Team Academic All-American, has 20 consecutive starts heading into 1989 and has two years of eligibility left. He made 59 tackles last year and led the Badgers with eight tackles for loss (-34 yards). Also expected to make an impact on the defensive line in '89 are versatile two-year letterman Dan Batsch, who has 19 starts the past two years at outside linebacker/end, veteran Leon Johnson, who has 31 games under his belt, two-year letterman Bill Antonie, and up and coming new faces in Eric Benzschawel, Scott Boyke, Patrick Thompson and Pat McGettigan.

At inside linebacker positions, "Malvin Hunter and Brendan Lynch emerged as the top two at those positions this past spring," according to Morton, "but they are being pushed real hard by Aaron Norvell, Pete Underwood, Robert Newell and Gary Casper." Hunter, a two-year starter, has recorded 148 tackles in just 17 games as a Badger, and figures to be one of the linebackers to watch in the Big Ten this fall. "If the names Norvell and Underwood ring a bell you probably recall their fathers as members of Wisconsin's last championship team," added Morton.

"Our 1989 co-captains, seniors Dan Kissling and Tim Knoeck, lead a group of young outside linebackers," said Morton. Kissling, who had 21 starting assignments under his belt heading into his senior season, has 121 career tackles and should also be a strong contender for post-season honors. Knoeck, a true veteran, has played in 31 games as a Badger and his Big Ten experience should be a big bonus for the Cardinal and White. Others to watch for? "Duer Sharp saw extended action as a freshman in 1988 and Curt Maternowski has been a pleasant surprise," according to Morton.

"The secondary," says Morton, "is an area where we have a tremendous amount of depth. As a sophomore in 1988, cornerback LaMarr White was voted our defensive player of the year and will be even better in 1989. Eddie Fletcher came out of spring ball in a real competitive battle with Troy Vincent. The lone senior in the defensive backfield is Brad Mayo who will be in the thick of things for playing time. Two-year starter Greg Thomas is being pushed by Tyrone Mahone at the free safety position while Rafael Robinson and Dennis Tillman give us excellent depth at strong safety."

LaMarr White, who has started 16 games, contributed 114 tackles, seven interceptions and has eight passes broken up the past two years, should be among the elite defensive backs in the conference. He ranked fifth (tie) in the Big Ten in interceptions in 1988, while Hunter, who is the top returning tackler for the UW this fall (he had 95 in 1988), was tied for 13th in tackles with 8.6 per game. Both Don Davey and Hunter were tied for eighth in the conference in tackles for loss (8), and Hunter and John Banaszak were tied for second with three opponent fumbles recovered.

The Badgers ranked sixth against the run at 185.2 yards per game, but ranked tenth against the pass and ninth overall at 391.0 yards per game given up to 11 opponents. Obviously, the Badgers must improve those statistics to make a move up in the standings.

On the offensive side, the 1989 Wisconsin football team has promising potential, yet several questions still need to be answered. There is considerable talent, but there is also a measurable amount of inexperience.

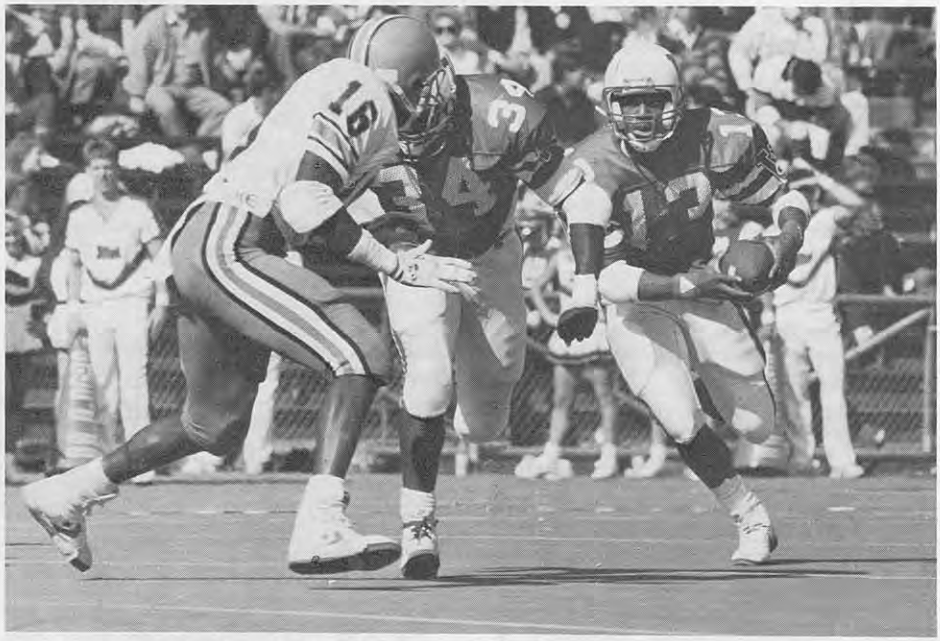
"We're going to diversify and not be as dependent on the option," said Morton when asked about his offensive plans for '89. "We feel we're going to be big and physical up front, and we have some tailback-type players. We feel we can explore some things out of the I-formation, diversify, and not be so dependent on the option."

"We are in the process of an offensive evolution that has caused a great deal of excitement with our players and staff. In an attempt to diversify and help the passing game, we are learning to operate out of a one-back set. There are aspects of the option game that we will keep and strive to develop an effective pass and run offense. There is nothing magical, it still comes down to people and execution." The Badgers averaged 149.6 yards per game on the ground last fall, and another 115.6 yards per game through the air. The total offense of 265.3 yards per game ranked ninth in the Big Ten.

Offensively, tentative returning starters are Bill Williams at wide receiver, Brady Pierce at tackle, Joe Magazzeni at guard, and Lionell Crawford at quarterback. Williams, however, could be a question mark due to injury.

DE Don Davey, a two-time First Team Academic All-American, will be a mainstay on the defensive front

Junior ILB Malvin Hunter is the Badgers' top returning tackler for 1989 after registering 95 stops last fall



Up and coming QB Lionell Crawford led the Badgers in total offense as a freshman with 829 yards, despite starting just seven games

Pierce, a definite post-season honors candidate, started nine games in 1988 and has a 6-7, 290-pound frame. Also figured as anchors in the structuring of the offensive line are Magazzeni, who started every game as a junior and goes 6-7, 287, and junior Nick Polczinski, who shows great promise and figures to be one of the biggest players in the country at 6-5, 322.

"The most improvement this past spring was in the offensive line," Morton pointed out. "The Badgers will certainly be bigger and stronger. The starting offensive line coming out of spring football averaged 286 pounds. Brady Pierce and Chuck Belin are developing into a good tackle-guard combination on the left side. The right side has Nick Polczinski and Joe Magazzeni competing at right guard. David Rapps has established himself at the right tackle position while Rick Godfrey is the number one center after an outstanding spring."

Williams is the top returning receiver after catching 13 passes for 170 yards a year ago. Crawford benefited from a great deal of playing experience as a freshman in 1988, after Tony Lowery was hurt in the Iowa game. He has the ability to be a top-notch signal caller. In his first year of college football, the Badgers' #13 marked seven starting assignments, led the Badgers in total offense with 829 yards and scored three touchdowns.

"The quarterback position probably had the most intense competition as Lionell Crawford and Sean Wilson battled for the opportunity to lead the Badgers in 1989. Lionell appears quicker with maturity and is working to develop his passing skills. Sean completed 67% of his passes last spring and did a good job moving the team. Otis Flowers will return in 1989 from a knee injury and provide added competition. Brad Brekke had a strong spring and is gaining confidence."

"Due to an excessive number of injuries to our wide receivers, we ended the spring with those positions unsettled. Tight end was a bright spot with the emergence of Kerry Miller and Craig Hudson.

"Our running backs bring a variety of skills and strengths to our team. As we diversify the offense we can utilize a back's strong area and stay away from a weakness, thus giving him a chance to excel. The two returning veterans are Leon Hunt and Fred Owens. Damone Freeman brings the most speed while Jimmy Henderson has power and above average speed. Tywin Claypool showed a great deal of improvement and will be a factor as well.

Statistically, the top returnee is Hunt, who averaged 4.2 yards per carry on 39 attempts in 1988. He has played in 34 consecutive Badger games the past three seasons. Freeman, who made his presence felt on the Big Ten track circuit this past spring, has sprinter speed and comes off a freshman season that saw him play in the last eight straight games in '88. Owens, another veteran with 27 UW games to his credit, was also the Badgers' top kick returner last year with 30 returns for 539 yards.

Wisconsin's kicking game should be strong this fall with talented Rich Thompson returning after going through surgery for an ulcer after the second game last year. Thompson recorded a 52-yard field goal prior to his injury. Also back is barefoot kicker Robb Mehring, who was strong in replacing Thompson. Junior college transfer and punter Mike Mullen, meanwhile, averaged 44 yards per punt last year and will battle with Brad Brekke for punting duties.

"The 1989 Badgers will play one of the more difficult Wisconsin schedules of this decade," said Morton. "We open with one of the top two or three teams in Miami, play a tough California team in Berkeley, face Michigan and Iowa back to back, and have Big Ten road games at Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State along with Big Ten home games with Indiana, Michigan State and Northwestern. It presents a large challenge and tremendous opportunity. We welcome the future."

BADGER OFFENSE

PRE-SEASON INTERVIEW WITH COACH DON MORTON

(Editor's Note: prior to publication, the UW Sports News Office conducted an in-depth interview with University of Wisconsin head football coach Don Morton as he prepares for his third season at the helm of the Badgers. We asked a variety of questions regarding the state of Badger Football, the prospects for the 1989 campaign, the Big Ten Conference, the future of college football, and so on. Following are his responses.)

Please evaluate and give a general overview of your 1989 spring practice session.

"I think in future years we will look back at the spring of '89 as a very critical spring. We had more contact than we've had in our previous years at Wisconsin. We had longer practices. We had more intensity, more enthusiasm. I think just a general, overall good spring.

"People were intent on getting better, people were intent on improving their individual skills, and we worked very hard at coming together as a football team. I think we made solid progress in every area."

What areas of the team made the most progress during the spring session?

"The area where we are probably seeing the most improvement on our football team, generally, is on the defensive side of the ball and then specifically, this past spring, I think our secondary is probably making as fast of progress as any other group.

"We probably have as much experience back there as anyone else and we have a couple players that are really starting to come through. LaMarr White has been a two-year starter, had a great year in 1988, was our most valuable defensive player, and is doing everything to indicate that he can be one of the best cornerbacks in the Big Ten Conference in 1989. I think we have as much depth, in the secondary, as we ever had. Brad Mayo, who's a two-year starter, got beat out during the course of spring but he'll come back this fall battling for playing time. Eddie Fletcher and Troy Vincent are leaving spring football as co-starters at the one corner spot. That will make for an interesting battle. So we've got some depth at corner. . . . something every team needs.

"Our top returnee at free safety, Greg Thomas, another two-year starter, is in a heck of a battle with Tyrone Mahone. Tyrone started the spring a bit slowly; he had to miss some practices because of tests and his class schedule, but once he got in the groove he really put the pressure on. That's a healthy situation for both of them and also for us. Whenever you can have competition going at a particular position it's good for your football team and it's good for the people involved because it obviously helps your depth.

"At the strong safety position, Rafael Robinson comes out of spring football as number one. He has three years of eligibility left. Dennis Tillman, our top back-up, is another one of the young men that redshirted last year. . . . he has four years of eligibility remaining. They both have different strengths that they bring to the game, and I'm sure both will see a lot of action in 1989."

Which areas of the team concern you as you buckle down in preparations for the 1989 season?

"As you look at our team in '88 and you look at our team in the spring of '89, the quarterback position is our big-play position. In the spring, Sean Wilson gave us big plays with the passing game; Lionell Crawford gives us big plays with his running ability. We'd like to take some of the pressure off the quarterback position. We need a receiver to emerge. It didn't happen in spring football. Injuries were certainly part of it, but we have to have some people emerge as big-play people. We can't afford to have every receiver be a possession-type receiver; we have to have somebody who can take a ten-yard play and turn it into a 40-yard play. We've got to have somebody who can turn a 15-yard play into a 60-yard play. We've just got to get some big plays out of the receiver position.

"And the same goes for the running back position. We've got to see somebody break tackles on a more consistent basis. We've got to see somebody make a defender miss them on a more consistent basis. You have to be realistic; it's not going to happen every time, but it has to happen a higher percentage of the time than what we've seen. I think Damone Freeman gave us a glimpse of some potential big plays a year ago. He has probably the most speed of anybody back there and we hope with maturity and experience that he can develop into a big-play type of person. But right now, offensively, our big plays come from the quarterback spot.

"I think Craig Hudson, in the spring, from his tight end position, showed the capability to be a big play person. We need someone like Craig to come through in 1989. Kerry Miller, at the other tight end position, also had an outstanding spring. Right now we've got to find a way to get both those people in the ball game because when you talk about our best players on offense, Kerry Miller and Craig Hudson are in that group."

What is the team's greatest strength heading into the new campaign?

"Our greatest strength heading into the '89 season is on the defensive side. That is where we have the most experience. Two years ago, in our first year here, we played with five freshmen and three sophomores on defense. Well, those players are now juniors and seniors and it makes a heck of a difference. I think we have our better depth on defense. We have good athletic ability on defense and this certainly is going to be our strong suit heading into the season."

What offensive formation(s) will you use?

"I really think that when you are at a university for your third year, getting ready for your third season, there is a natural evolution that you go through with your offense and that is exactly what is happening at the University of Wisconsin.

"We have, for the last several years, been exploring several different ideas. You just don't all of a sudden plunge into drastic changes. Our first two years we felt we had to establish the basics of the option game. We thought, as we looked at our personnel, the option game gave us the best chance to move the football.

"The thing we want to explore now is not just an experiment, it is something we've made a commitment to. And that's the one-back offense. We want to be able to spread the defense out. We want to be able to spread our offense out. Whenever you can get four receivers on the line of scrimmage it definitely is a plus for your passing game. That's what the one-back system does. Instead of having three receivers on or near the line of scrimmage, you have four. You operate out of one back in the backfield. . . . we worked very hard last spring to develop an effective passing game as well as an effective running game out of the one-back formation. We feel pretty good about it. We feel that it will certainly complement the things we want to do offensively out of a two-back look. We want to have the ability to go back and forth between a one-back offense and a two-back offense.

"The thing we have probably learned is with the variety of formations that we have, it allows us to utilize the different skills that some of our people have. We have a number of running backs. . . . they all have a unique skill and they all have, maybe, a unique weakness. Hopefully we can give them a chance to feature their skills and stay away from a weak area. It means a lot of substitutions; it means we'll probably play with more people in 1989, but that can be something very positive."

Explain briefly about the 'R' back concept.

"When you talk about our one-back offense, it's not an 'R' back offense. You've got to label people. For instance, the flanker is 'Z', the tight end is 'Y'. If you've got two tight ends, the other one is 'U' and one is 'R'. We use 'R' because it is usually a running back coming out of the backfield that lines up on the line of scrimage as a receiver. 'R' for running back, 'R' for receiver. It's not an 'R' back offense. I don't want people to think we're doing something really different. We use the traditional one-back offense."

What defensive alignment(s) will you use?

"We're not making any drastic changes on defense. We will be very similar to what we have been in the past. We start with a basic 'Okie' defense, then we'd also like to reduce down; we'd like to bring the tackle down on the guard. But we also are using more and more of the 'Okie' alignment because of the sophisticated pass offenses that we've seen. We don't want the defense to know where the rush end is coming from and where the drop end is coming from. The 'Okie' defense gives you that ability to disguise and get into different coverages.

"Basically, it (the 'Okie' defense) is a college three-four. We're a basic three-four team and then we adjust from there. Three defensive linemen and four linebackers—two inside, two outside."

What players will you look to for leadership and big performances in 1989? Who will be your offensive leaders? Who will be your defensive leaders?

"The leadership for our '89 team has to start with the seniors. We have two excellent captains in Dan Kissling and Tim Knoeck. They have worked very hard. They have done everything we've asked them to do and they're very conscientious of the leadership role than they have to play this fall. . . . I think our entire senior class is. Leadership certainly starts with the seniors, but you've got to get leadership throughout your entire football program.

"Tim Knoeck's collegiate career probably hasn't been exactly like he'd hoped it would be. I think every young man has visions of being a starter, being a star player. Through some various coaching changes and different defensive schemes, Tim has played a variety of roles in our two years here. He has been a starter. He has been a backup. He has been a special teams player. But no matter what his role has been he's always been a Badger, he's always been a team player, and he's always been a leader. Some people can't accept that; some people have a difficult time going from being a starter to being a backup player. But Tim is one of those unselfish people. If you ever talk about the "ultimate" team player, he just might be one of those type of people. Because of that, his teammates certainly respect him; you don't get elected captain unless your teammates have a tremendous amount of respect for you. That was a tremendous vote by the team to elect him to a captain's role. And now he comes off spring football as a probable starter.

"As far as the big performers in '89, people who have a chance to be impact-type players, Dan Kissling is in that position. He's playing the same position now for the second consecutive year. He's coming off a good spring. He's healthy and he's a person we look to to have a big year. Malvin Hunter, at one of the inside linebacker spots, is a solid two-year starter who is also capable of making the big plays.

"A very pleasent surprise for us is Brendan Lynch. Brendan had an awfully good spring. He, too, is at one of the very competitive inside linebacker positions. You've got to be able to get some big plays out of your inside linebackers. And I think in the secondary, LaMarr White is capable of having an outstanding year in 1989.

"Offensively, we think Brady Pierce is a potentially outstanding offensive lineman. He's going to stablize the left side of the line. We've put a newcomer in alongside Brady, red-shirted freshman Chuck Belin who has four years of eligibility left. You don't usually find offensive linemen that young in a starting role at this level, but Chuck has a wealth of athletic ability, a wealth of talent, and he has the size you need. Playing next to Brady this fall is going to be a tremendous stabilizer for Chuck.

"At center, Rick Godfrey is our tentative starter. In our offense, the center has to play well. There is a lot of pressure on that position. That player has got to be able to block a noseguard one on one and he's got to be able to pass block one on one. We have to get some stability there. What Rick Godfrey has is good quickness, athletic ability, and the ability to play with his pad level low. That's what you've got to have. As we look at our offense, other than the quarterback position, the center position is probably one of the most critical positions on our football team. For us to be effective, the center has to have a big year."

What about the quarterback situation? Do you have a definite number one heading into 1989?

"At the quarterback position, and I don't care what offense you run, you have to excel. And we've got some people there that can do that, starting with Lionell (Crawford) and Sean (Wilson).

"Sean certainly made a strong case for himself in spring football. The thing that he is able to do—he completed close to 67 percent of his passes in spring ball—is step into the huddle and get the team moving. The team will pick up first downs, they will get into scoring territory. He just has that ability to move a football team. He did it last fall, he did it this spring. His strong suit is throwing the football. He will be a much better passer than he is a runner, but he is elusive.

"Lionell has tremendous quickness. I think we saw a much quicker Lionell Crawford in spring football with a year of physical maturity behind him. The winter weight program has helped him and he is working very hard to develop into a good passer. He does have a strong arm, but Lionell's strong suit will be as a runner.

"Heading out of spring football they're really pretty even. I think Lionell has an edge because of the experience factor, yet we see them both being a major part of our offense in 1989. They both have some leadership skills that have got them to where they are today."

Do you have specific goals for your offensive and defensive units this fall?

"Offensively, we have got to cut down on the turnovers. If we just cut down the turnovers we have a chance to win so many more games. We had 38 turnovers in '88; we just cannot be putting our defense in such bad field position.

"Offensively, we've got to win the field position battle and that means you don't have to score a touchdown every time, you don't have to kick a field goal everytime. You just have to get some first downs, allow your punter to make your opponent play a long field. The team that plays on a short field is more likely to win. You want your opponent to play on a long field. We've also got to pass the ball more effectively. We feel with a more effective passing game, with more emphasis on the passing game, it will open up the run. And you still have to be able to run the football.

"Defensively, I think we just want to continue where we have been. In '88, we defended the short passing game very well and we defended the long passing game very well. But we've got to do a better job in the intermediate zones. We had a lot of passes completed on us in those areas and we've got to improve there. We've got to continue to improve against the run. Our turnover ratio a year ago, or take aways from the defensive standpoint, were excellent. Our number of interceptions and our number of opponent fumble recoveries were excellent; we have to continue to mantain that high number of takeaways."

How much of a factor can the emotional level be? Can an underdog utilize the emotional factor to overcome the odds?

"A lot of times, even if your mismatched, you can hold your own for the first half. Maybe you're very emotional, maybe the other team isn't quite as emotional. So even in a mismatch situation, you can hold your own for the first half. It's the second half, when you're mismatched, that the size, strength and speed of your opponent will start to show through as both teams get tired. If one team is able to put more athletic ability on the field, over the course of the game it starts to show up. That's one of the most difficult things for people to realize, that each team has 11 players on the field and there are a lot of different movements, motions and so on. In any one player, there may be a hundred little athletic things that are going on and gradually, through the course of the game, the team with the most athletic ability, the most strength, the most speed. . . . the scales are usually going to tip in their favor and they're just going to have more good things happen to them."

What areas of the 1989 Wisconsin football team must come through for you to move up in the standings?

"For us to move up in the Big Ten standings, we've got to cut down the turnovers, improve our punting game, and improve our overall offensive stats. We've got to improve our scoring ability . . . to score more points."

How do you perceive the Big Ten Conference race in 1989?

"There is no question that there is one team that is head and shoulders above the rest and that's Michigan. Michigan had an outstanding football team in 1988 and they were basically a junior-dominated squad. I think the team that was the big surprise in '88, and that will continue to be impressive in '89, is Illinois. They had some young defensive players, particularly in the defensive line, come through for them last year. They also have one of the premier quarterbacks in the country and that's a good combination.

"Iowa and Michigan State will, of course, be tough. Indiana lost a lot of seniors but they've been recruiting very well. They've got some young players that have been given time to mature, they have had time to learn the system, and they've had time to gain confidence because they haven't been put in those pressure situations. Now it's their turn. And I don't think Indiana will drop off.

"I don't know if Ohio State had the talent a year ago that everyone assumed they had. Whenever you go through a coaching change there is going to be an adjustment period. Those players had to adjust to the new coaching staff, the new offensive style, the new defensive style. . . . that is what Ohio State is going through. But they'll be in the hunt for sure.

"There will probably also be a surprise team; there seems to be one every year. A team picked to be a lower division finisher that suddenly emerges. Last year, for instance, it was Illinois."

With two full years behind you in the Big Ten now, how do you feel about the Conference as a whole?

"There is no doubt that this is on a par with any conference in the country. We have a competitive group of programs, great coaches and great student-athletes. It's certainly an honor to be a member of this league.

"When you talk about football philosphy, you're going to reflect, to a certain extent, your part of the country and the Big Ten is basicaly a midwest conference. It may tend to be a little bit conservative. If you look at the administration, I think the Big Ten tends to be reasonably conservative. I'm not saying that is good or bad. With the athletes we get, the conference tends to be a physical football league. We do have access to big people and consequently it does become a physical league. There are other leagues around the country that have access to more speed than we have, particularly if you look at the warm weather climates. We are a cold weather conference and we reflect our particular region, yet I think last year the top teams in our conference represented the league very, very well. The only two losses that Michigan had, for one, were games that could have gone either way very easily. We were very well represented in the bowl games; Michigan did a super job in the Rose Bowl.

"Let's keep in mind, too, that the NCAA is not spending a lot of time on the Big Ten campuses and that has got to count for something."

How do you feel about the Wisconsin football program at this point? What are the positive happenings from your perspective?

"We are similar to any other organization in our society that has gone through a tremendous amount of transition like the Wisconsin Football program has gone through. There is a process you go through. There is a price you pay for responsible team building and I think we paid that price. We will continue to pay that price. As you look at our football team now, I think we have a group of people that have been together now for a couple years. The coaches have a much better understanding of the players and the players have a much better understanding of the coaches. There is a great deal of respect, but that is something you have to build in together.

"As a program we have gone through some things together. You see, it's not all bad for an organization to go through difficult times. We've been through two difficult seasons together and we've learned a great deal. We've gradually improved the quality of the athletic ability to fit our particular system. Now in 1989 we have a chance to make some significant progress and make some significant steps. We are in a position to do that. We have as much depth, particularly on the defensive side, as we've ever had. Our quarterback position is begining to stabilize and yet it is still a very young position when Sean Wilson has four years of eligibility left, Lionell Crawford has three years of eligibility left, Otis Flowers has three years of eligibility, and Brad Brekke has three years of eligibility left. That is just typical of our whole offense. It's a very young offense. You look at our starting offensive line. . . . Brady Pierce has two years of eligibility left, Chuck Belin has four, Rick Godfrey has three, Nick Polczinski has two, David Rapps has two. Joe Magazzini is the only senior there. We're a very young offensive football team and yet we have a chance to make some significant improvements."

What about the new facilities? The Dave McClain Athletic Facility, for instance. How will they help you?

"This past recruiting year, the young men that are high school seniors right now and who will be freshmen in the fall, this is the first recruiting class that was able to visit University of Wisconsin and see an indoor facility. . . . see the best one in the country. Now that has been going on at other Big Ten schools since 1984. What people don't realize is that by 1985 Minnesota had an indoor facility, Iowa had an indoor facility, Illinois had an indoor facility, Michigan and Michigan State had indoor facilities. So since 1985, young people have been visiting those campuses and have been seeing a real commitment to facilities. Well, this past recruiting class was the first recruiting class that we could show the same thing to and that's very important. We are dealing with impressionable, 18-year-old people who, obviously, we want academics to be important to them but football is important to them, too. They want to go to a school where there is a visual statement of a commitment. That's what facilities do for you. They make a visual statement to the direction that you want to take your football program.

"We saw the first real benefits of the McClain Facility this last recruiting year. And now we're seeing the benefits in the off-season as well. Now you can talk about the ultimate effect of the passing game because your quarterbacks and receivers are able to throw and catch all winter long. That makes a difference. Your skilled people can be in a facility and doing things they have to do like running and catching passes.

"And for our players own self-concept and self-esteem, to be in that facility makes them feel good about themselves. Any of us will do a better job if we feel good about ourselves. That facility is certainly a world-class facility. It's a facility that the University of Wisconsin athletes, the Wisconsin football players, really deserve."

What are your thoughts about this year's schedule? You open up with a possible number one team, Miami, travel west to play an up and coming California team, have nearly a month between home games, play Michigan, Illinois and Ohio State on the road, and face four other Big Ten teams at home?

"We have a very big challenge in 1989, but we also have some unique opportunities. This is, I believe, the toughest schedule Wisconsin has played in the decade. We open with probably the pre-season favorite to be the national champion, Miami, and then travel across the country to face an excellent California team—one that is making a strong comeback in the Pac 10. Every conference game is a tough game, and we have eight of them. And this year, we lose Purdue off the schedule and pick up Indiana.

"It's a great challenge and it's a unique opportunity. I think it's a challenge our players are looking forward to."

What items most concern you about the state of college football in 1989?

"Well, for one, before the decade ends, college football has to come to grips with the steroid problem. I'm for mandatory testing at the conference level. I would like to see the conference pick up the bill for steroid testing. Let's not just test the successful teams in the league, let's not just test the juniors and seniors, let's test those young players, too. It's the younger players that are trying to get big that face the temptation. Let's come to grips with the issue. That is something we can do as a conference, and we've got to continue to do it when we go through the recruiting process.

"We make promises and we've got to live up to our promises, in the academic arena as well as the athletic arena. We've got to make sure we're going to do what we are telling kids we're going to do. I think young people have got to be realistic when they come to college; we've got to make sure they are aware of the competition they are going to face in the classroom. We do an injustice when we paint too rosy of a picture and tell them how easy it's going to be. We spend a great deal of time getting them ready to be a college football player. . . . we've got to do the same thing to get them ready to be a college student.

"I think the NCAA is doing some real good things. They came out with a tremendous study about some of the problems division one football players and basketball face and about some of the problems black athletes face. I think these are the things that as college coaches and administrators, we've got to understand and we've got to participate in. We've got to use these studies and get the information these studies have to see what we can do to make the environment as good as possible for every student athlete.

"Most universities have a summer collegiate experience where those young people that haven't had the preparation in high school that they need, there is some type of summer collegiate experience that they can get involved in at their university. Right now, the NCAA makes it very difficult for schools to pay for the student-athlete to enter before the fall. This is 1989, if there are changes that have to be made let's make them."

Do you see any trends developing in the college game?

"In 1988, division 1A football lost something like 900,000 fans. I think that is a definite trend, and there are a variety of reasons. The demographics are changing. We're becoming a more participatory society. People participate in activities. . . . they get involved in running, jogging, walking, and recreational sports and hobbies. We're not the spectator society we were ten years ago.

"What has hurt college football, we feel as coaches, is the T.V. There is so much college football on T.V. It's just too easy to sit at home and watch a game.

"As you look at the demographics and you look at our society changing, you see a whole new awareness when it comes to alcohol. I think a lot of schools went through a period where there was a certain atmosphere at the games and some of that revolved around alcohol. I think those days are gone. In the '70's, perhaps, win-loss records weren't as critical to attendance. But as you leave the '80's and enter the '90's, the win-loss record may be more critical. People want to be associated with a winner. And yet there is no reason you can't have good, wholesome fun at a football game. We've got a great show at Camp Randall. We've got one of the best bands in the country, we've got the pom-pon girls and cheerleaders, we've got student-athletes that are true student-athletes that will give a great effort. And we're going to be better. We've got to show people that we are doing the things we need to do to be a good Big Ten team, to be a championship Big Ten team."

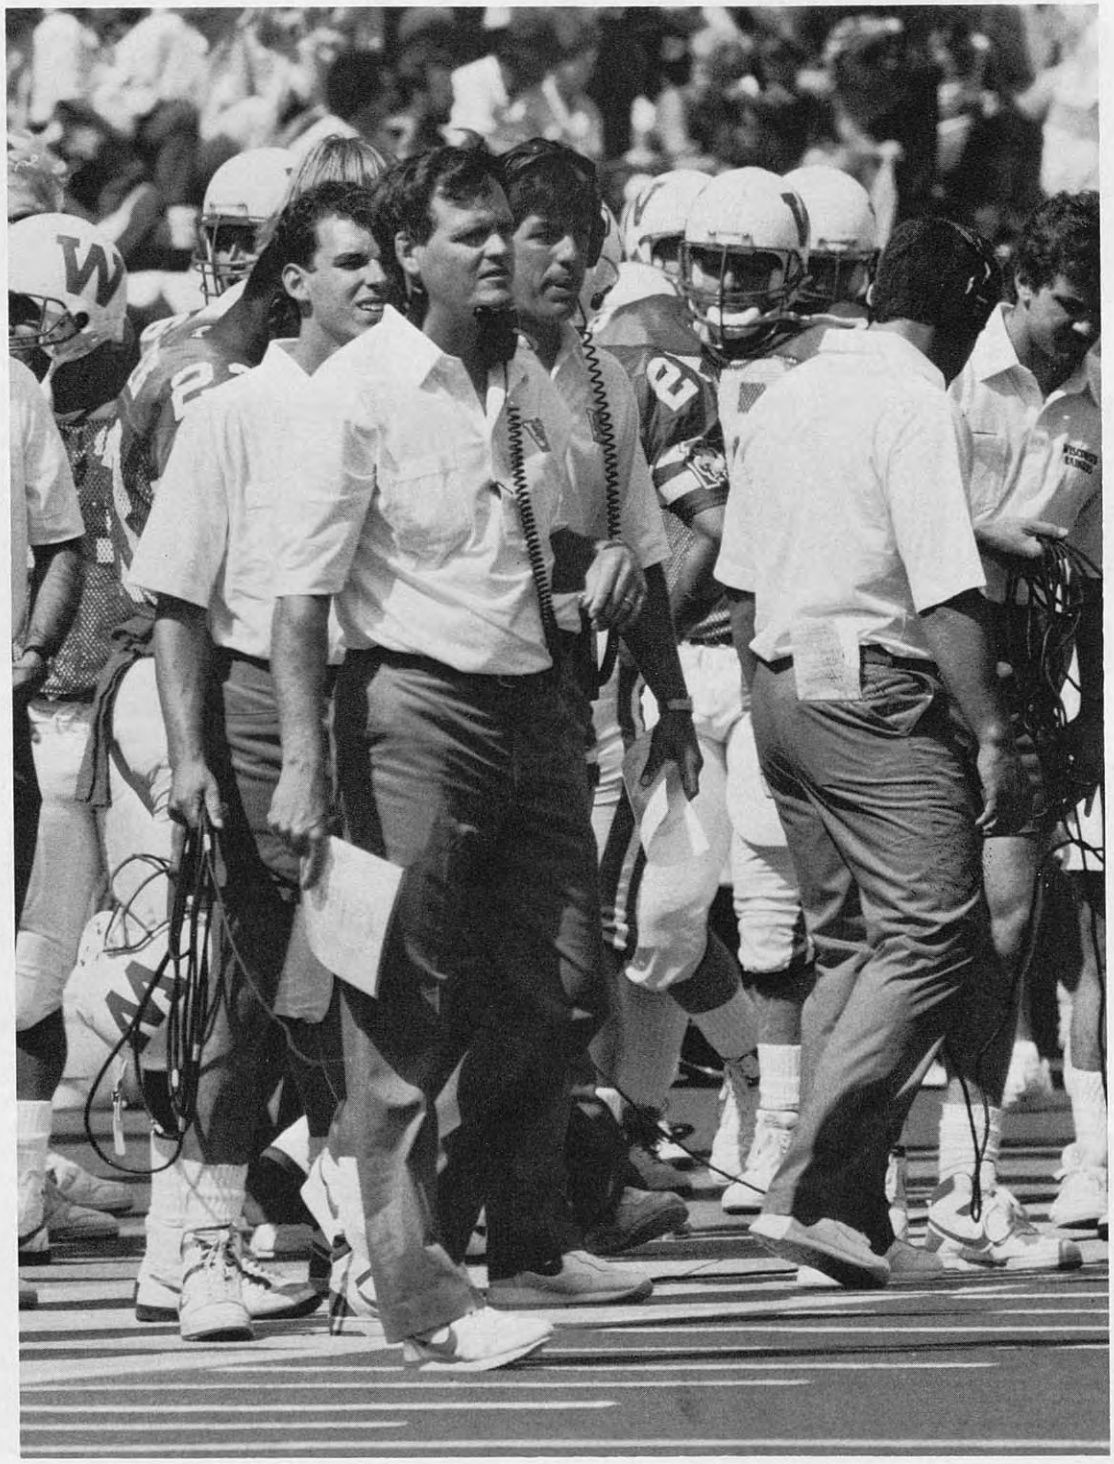
BADGER FOOTBALL

COACHES



HEAD COACH

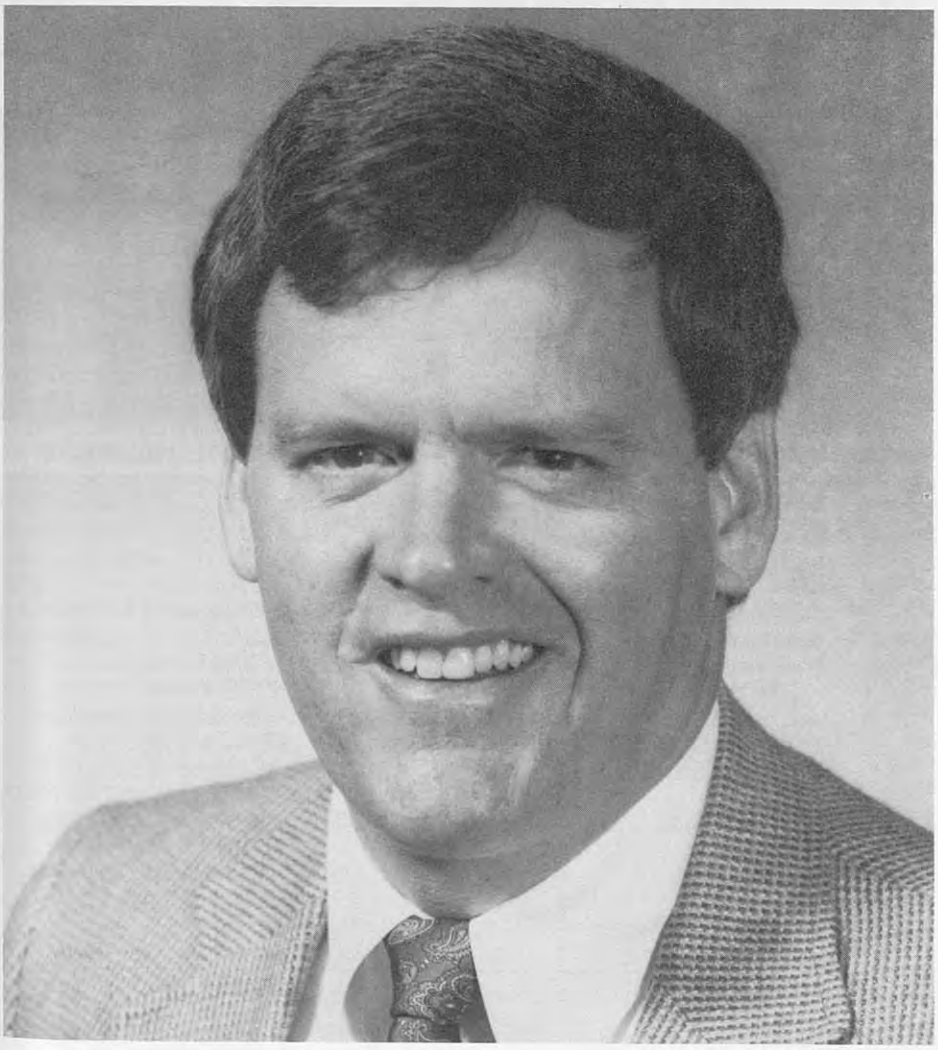
DON MORTON

Don Morton marks his third season at the University of Wisconsin and tenth overall as a collegiate head coach in 1989, after being selected to guide the school's gridiron fortunes on November 28, 1986.

Initially awarded a five-year contract, Morton is the 26th head coach in the long and colorful 100-year history of Badger Football. After being at the helm during the school's 100th anniversary season in 1988, Morton has the distinction this fall of leading the Cardinal and White into their second century of collegiate football competition.

One of the primary concerns confronting Morton at the onset of his tenure at the UW in 1987 was installing a renewed sense of enthusiasm and eagerness throughout the program. Wisconsin, he knew, had won just eight of its previous 23 games in 1985 and 1986. He has made measurable strides in those areas, but he also knows there is more work to be done.

The 1989 season, the third installment of Coach Morton's five-year plan to get Badger Football back on track, will likely provide an even greater challenge. But Don Morton is a man who thrives on challenges; in fact, he has made a career of turning such challenges into successes.



Yes, the '87 and '88 campaigns are now history. And though maybe the won-loss record wasn't what the coaching staff had hoped it would be, Morton and his spirited support group can now point with optimism to a coming season that promises a new degree of excitement and hopefully, some eagerly anticipated dividends.

Recognized as one of the top young head coaches in the college game today, Morton's overall philosophy of collegiate athletics includes a strong commitment to academics. At the time of his hiring, Morton said, "I am proud to be a part of a university that has a value system. One that says, 'Hey, this is what we believe in; this is what we stand for.' I think that's important in our society.

"I'm excited that here at the University of Wisconsin they are not going to corrupt the educational process. When we make a fraud of a student-athlete for the sake of winning, that is not winning at all. That has not happened here in the past, and it will not happen in the future.

"That so-called 'dumb-jock' is not born. He is systematically created when we let him go through a system unchallenged. As a coaching staff, we will continue that great tradition of challenging young people on a day-to-day basis—academically and football-wise.

"It's important for all of us to realize one thing. We are involved in a game. It is a game played by young people and not every play will be perfect, there will be mistakes made. We have to keep that in mind.

"I'm in the toy department at the University. There are a lot more important things going on across campus. This is fun, and we have to keep this game in perspective."

A 41-year-old native of Flint, Michigan, Morton was born on April 10, 1947 and attended and graduated from that city's Northern High School. Following high school, he moved on to Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois, playing center for the football team in the late 1960s and earning his Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology in 1969.

His impressive academic background then culminated in a Master of Arts degree in Education and Administration from Western Illinois University in 1974.

Morton began his professional coaching career in 1969 as assistant football and assistant wrestling coach at Moline High School in Moline, Illinois, serving there through 1971.

His successes at Moline High School earned him his first collegiate position as offensive line coach at Augustana College of Sioux Falls, South Dakota from 1971-76.

Coach Morton then moved on to North Dakota State University as offensive backfield coach from 1977-79, and was subsequently named head coach at NDSU in 1979.

Morton's six-year head coaching record at North Dakota State was 57-15-0 (.792), with the school winning the North Central Conference title four straight years (1981-84) after placing second in both 1979 and 1980.

While at North Dakota State, his teams participated four times in NCAA Division II Championship playoffs, with the Bison winning the national title in 1983 and placing second in both 1981 and 1984.

Morton took the head coaching position at the University of Tulsa following the 1984 season and immediately guided the Hurricanes to the Missouri Valley Conference title with a perfect 5-0-0 record (6-5-0 overall) in his first campaign.

Tulsa dropped out of the Missouri Valley Conference following the 1985 season and in 1986 campaigned as an independent, posting a 7-4-0 record. The Hurricanes ranked third nationally that year in rushing offense at 289.0 yards per game, and 14th nationally in total offense at 414.0 yards per game.

Morton's ten-season record as a head coach is an impressive 74-42-0 (.638)—including marks of 57-15-0 at North Dakota State and 13-9-0 at the University of Tulsa. Morton-coached teams have won ten or more games four times.

Don and his wife, Susan, have two children: daughter Stephanie, age 18, and son Joshua, 15.

WISCONSIN ASSISTANT COACHES

PAT SIMMERS

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/ LINE COACH

PAT SIMMERS enters his third season as an assistant coach with the University of Wisconsin football program in 1989. He serves as the Badgers' offensive coordinator and is an offensive line coach. He coached at the University of Tulsa under Don Morton for two seasons after joining the Tulsa staff in March of 1985 from North Dakota State.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Simmers' coaching career began at Fond du Lac St. Mary's Springs High School, where he was an assistant football coach and the head wrestling coach from 1974-75. He moved to Devils Lake High School in North Dakota as the head football coach in 1975, compiling a three-year record of 13-10 (1975-77). In 1978, Simmers went to North Dakota State as a graduate assistant coach, and from 1979-85 served as offensive line coach. Under his guidance, NDSU ranked among the nation's top five in rushing offense in five of his last six years at the school.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Pat is a 1970 graduate of Grand Forks (ND) Central High School, where he achieved all-state honors in both football and wrestling his junior and senior years. He then earned his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from North Dakota State in 1974, received all-conference honors two times in football, and was a three-time placewinner as a heavyweight wrestler. Simmers earned a Master's in 1979 in Physical Education from North Dakota State.

PERSONAL: Simmers enjoys fishing, racquetball, tennis and golf, and was born on March 17, 1952 in Jamestown, North Dakota. He and his wife, Susie, have three children: Christopher, 12, Chad, 10, and Ryan, eight.

MIKE DALY

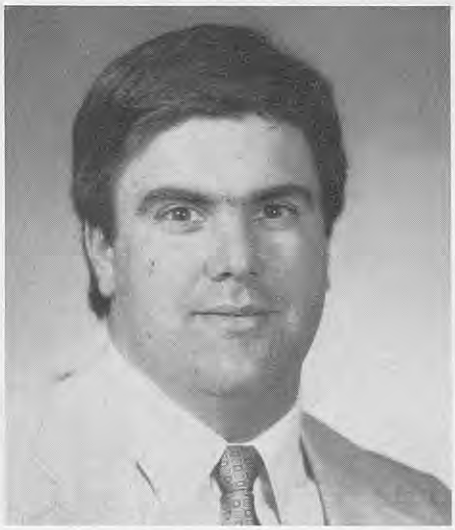
DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/ SECONDARY COACH

MIKE DALY marks his third season at the University of Wisconsin in 1989. Mike serves as Wisconsin's defensive coordinator as well as secondary coach.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Daly began his football coaching career as a graduate assistant at Augustana College in South Dakota in 1972. He spent the 1973 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Minnesota, and then returned to Augustana as the defensive secondary coach for the 1974 and 1975 seasons. Mike moved on to South Dakota State in 1976, serving as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach through 1979, and then went to North Dakota State in the same capacities for five seasons (1980-84). He spent the 1984 campaign as the defensive coordinator at Idaho State. Mike was also a two-year member of Don Morton's University of Tulsa football staff, joining the UT program in March of 1985 from Idaho State University.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Daly attended Fairmont High School in Minnesota (1964-67), where he earned varsity letters in football and baseball. He received his Bachelor's degree in Biology from Augustana College in 1971, earning letters in baseball and football, and received his Master's degree in Physical Education in 1974 from the University of Minnesota.

PERSONAL: Daly, who enjoys fishing, hunting and playing golf, was born on October 29, 1949. He and his wife, Carol, have a one-year old son, Derek.



BOB BABICH

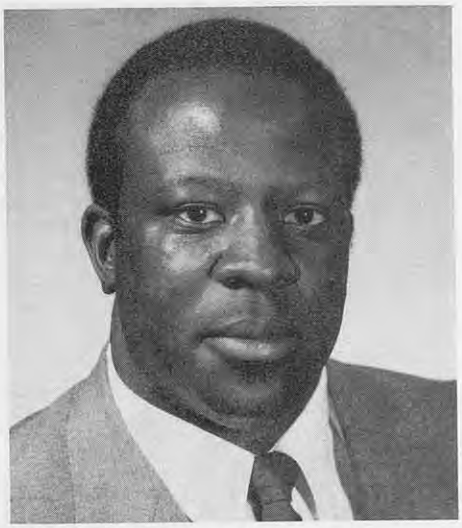
OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Marking his second year at the University of Wisconsin in the fall of 1989 is BOB BABICH, who will again serve as an offensive line coach. He came to the Madison campus in the spring of 1988 from the University of Tulsa, where he also served as an offensive line coach.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Babich was a three-year member of the University of Tulsa football staff - serving as an assistant under Don Morton for two of those seasons. In 1987, he worked under Tulsa head coach George Henshaw. Prior to being a full-time assistant at his alma mater, Bob had served the school as a student assistant in 1983 and as a graduate assistant in 1984.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Bob is a 1984 graduate of the University of Tulsa, where he gained his bachelor's degree in Education and captained Tulsa's 1982 team that posted a 10-1 record. He also played two seasons (1979-80) at Mesa (AZ) Junior College where he earned honorable mention All-American honors before transferring to Tulsa.

PERSONAL: The 28-year-old Babich is a native of Aliquippa, PA, where he played both football and baseball. Bob and his wife, Nancy, have a six-year-old son, Bob, and a three-year-old daughter, Janie.



JACOB BURNEY
DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

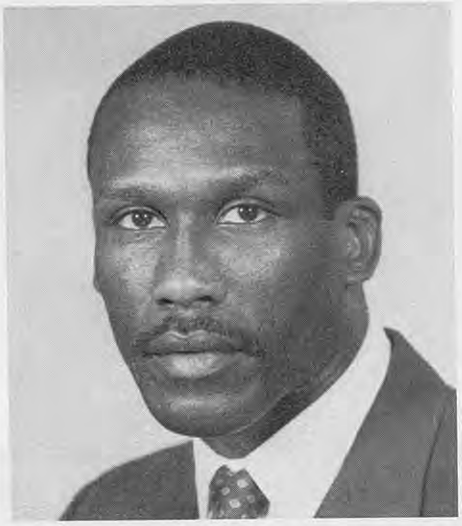
JACOB BURNEY marks his first season as an assistant football coach with the University of Wisconsin this fall after being named to Don Morton's staff in February of 1989. Burney comes to the UW from the staff of the late Joe Morrison at the University of South Carolina.

"Jacob Burney is an outstanding young coach and a proven recruiter," said head coach Don Morton. "He'll be coaching the defensive line. He brings a lot of enthusiasm and experience to our defensive line." Burney had joined Morrison's staff in January of 1989 after coaching the inside linebackers at Mississippi State in 1988.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: The 30-year-old Burney began his coaching career in 1983 when he joined Joe Morrison at the University of New Mexico. He served there four years as defensive line coach before moving in 1987 to the University of Tulsa where he also coached the defensive line. Burney coached the inside linebackers at Mississippi State last year before taking a job at South Carolina this past January.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: A 1981 graduate of the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga with a degree in Physical Education, Burney was a four-year starter for the Moccasins on teams that won four Southern Conference football titles and posted an overall 33-9-2 record from 1977 to 1980. He was named an All-Southern Conference defensive lineman during his last three years at the school. Burney graduated from Tyner High School in Chattanooga where he attained all-state honors in football, wrestling and track and field.

PERSONAL: Jacob and his wife, Madrinna, have two children: Jacob Jared, six, and Joseph Benjamin, two. Burney enjoys weight training, bicycling and swimming as hobbies.



LAWRENCE 'L. C.' COLE
OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

LAWRENCE 'L. C.' COLE enters his second season as an assistant coach with the University of Wisconsin football team in 1989. He will again serve as the outside linebackers coach for the Badgers.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Cole came to Wisconsin with a distinguished background. For three seasons prior to coming to the UW, he served as an assistant coach for inside linebackers at Kansas State University. Prior to his tenure at KSU, he was an assistant coach at Ball State University (1984) and at New Mexico State University (1982-83).

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Cole earned his Bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska in 1980. He played varsity football four seasons for the Cornhuskers from 1975-79, serving as team captain and earning All-Big Eight honors at linebacker his senior season. Following his graduation from Nebraska, Cole served one year as a graduate assistant coach at the Lincoln campus.

PERSONAL: Cole is a native of Dayton, Ohio. Two of his former Nebraska teammates, Mark Mauer and Craig Bohl, are also in the coaching business. Mark with the Badgers, and Bohl at Rice University.

KEN ELLETT
DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS RECRUITING COORDINATOR

KEN ELLETT enters his third season at the University of Wisconsin in 1989 and second as Director of Football Operations and Recruiting Coordinator. Also included in those duties are his role as the team's strength coach. In his first season at the UW, in 1987, Ken was an assistant coach with the offensive line.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: A 1979 graduate of North Dakota State University, Ellett was named as assistant offensive line coach in 1979 and remained in that capacity for three seasons. In 1981, he was appointed as strength coach—a position he held until 1985 when he moved on to Tulsa. Ellett then spent two seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Tulsa (1985-86), after first joining that staff from North Dakota State in 1985.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Ellett is a 1974 graduate of Reedsburg High School in Wisconsin, where he lettered four times in football, wrestling and track. He was an all-state selection in football as a senior. He earned his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from North Dakota State in 1979, earning four letters each in football and track, and then received his Master's degree in Physical Education from North Dakota State in 1985.

PERSONAL: Ken, who enjoys tennis and golf, was born on November 25, 1956 in Reedsburg, Wisconsin. He and his wife, Cindy, have two sons: Casey, three, and Cody, two.

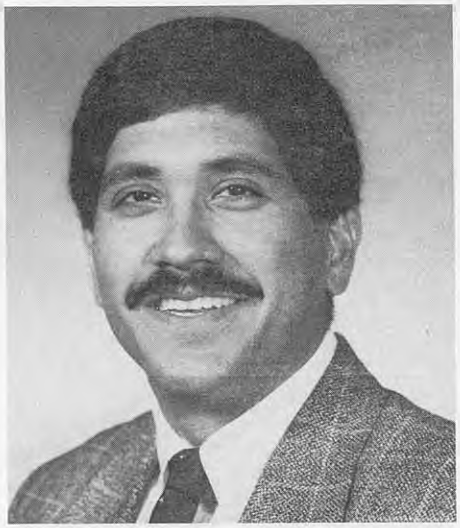
PHIL ENGLE
INSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

PHIL ENGLE, marking his third season with the UW Football program, switches duties for 1989. After serving as a defensive line coach for the Badgers in 1987 and 1988, he will now switch his expertise to the inside linebackers.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Engle began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at South Dakota State in 1976, and was then elevated to a full-time position with duties as defensive line coach, linebacker coach and defensive coordinator through 1979. He then moved on to North Dakota State in 1980 to spend five seasons as linebacker coach (through 1984). Engle was a two-year member of the football staff at the University of Tulsa (1985-86), and also served as an assistant coach at North Dakota State University.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: A 1968 graduate of Chapman High School in Kansas, Engle earned all-state honors in football as a senior and also lettered in basketball and track. He earned an associate's degree in 1971 from Hutchinson Community College, and a Bachelor's degree from South Dakota State in Physical Education and Health in 1973. He was named all-conference and earned honorable mention All-American recognition his senior season. Engle went on to play professional football with the Birmingham Americans of the World Football League during the 1973 campaign, and earned his Master's degree in Physical Education and Health in 1977 from South Dakota State.

PERSONAL: Engle, who enjoys reading historical fiction and fishing, was born on May 7, 1950 in Abilene, Kansas. He and his wife, Carla, have two sons, Mitchell, 12, and Brett, 11, and one daughter, Christa, eight.



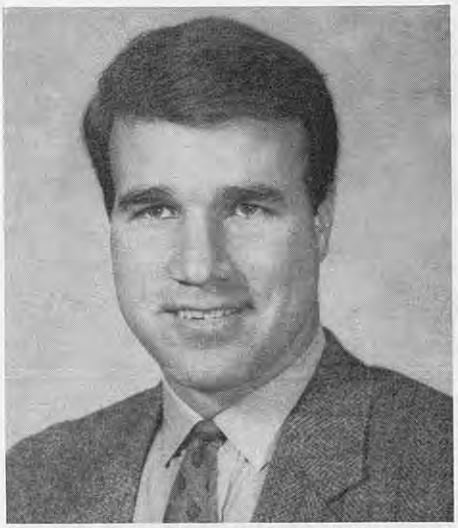
JIMMY GONZALES
DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

JIMMY GONZALES, a three-year member of Don Morton's coaching staff at Tulsa, will again coach the Badgers' defensive line in 1989.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Gonzales was an assistant coach at Judson High School in Texas in 1981, and then moved to Southwest Texas State University in 1982 as a graduate assistant coach. (Southwest Texas State claimed the 1982 NCAA Division II National Championship.) From 1983-84, Jimmy was a graduate assistant coach at Texas Christian University, and spent a brief period of time at Texas Lutheran College before going to Tulsa in July of 1985.

ACADEMIC and ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: A 1976 graduate of Clemens High School in Texas, where he was an all-district selection at offensive guard as a senior, Gonzales earned his Bachelor's degree in Political Science from Texas Lutheran College in 1981.

PERSONAL: Jimmy enjoys jogging and racquetball and was born April 26, 1958 in San Antonio, Texas. He was married to Mary Kirsanoff this past July.



MARK MAUER
TIGHT ENDS/ WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

MARK MAUER marks his third season with the University of Wisconsin Football staff in 1989. In charge of coaching the Badgers' tight ends and wide receivers again this fall, Mark originally came to the UW from Ball State University.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Prior to joining Don Morton's UW staff in 1987, Mauer spent two seasons, 1985 and 1986, as quarterback and receiver coach at Ball State University. He also served as a graduate assistant coach at Nebraska for three years following his graduation in 1981, working with the quarterbacks and offensive backfield.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: Mauer earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Nebraska in 1981, and was named to the All-Big Eight Academic Team. He was a three-year letterman at Nebraska, quarterbacking the Cornhuskers to the 1981 Big Eight championship and a berth in the 1982 Orange Bowl. Mauer also earned the Tom Novak Award as Nebraska's outstanding back that season.

PERSONAL: Mark is a 31-year-old native of St. Paul, Minnesota, where he was a three-sport standout in football, baseball and basketball at Harding High School. Mark and his wife, Jennifer, have a two-year-old daughter, Mia, and a new daughter, Marlo.

SCOTT SEELIGER

QUARTERBACKS/ RUNNING BACKS COACH

SCOTT SEELIGER enters his sixth season as an assistant football coach at the University of Wisconsin in 1989. After coaching the Badgers' offensive line and tight ends two years ago, Scott will work with the quarterbacks and running backs for the second straight year under Don Morton this fall.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Seeliger began his coaching career in 1973, when he was named head coach at Sauk Prairie High School. In three seasons there, Seeliger's teams compiled a 28-8 record, including a 9-0 mark and the South Central League Championship in 1975. For five years prior to his arrival at Wisconsin in 1984, Scott served as an assistant coach at Bowling Green State. In 1983, he was the Falcons' offensive coordinator, when BGSU went 8-3 and ranked No. 2 in national passing statistics.

ACADEMIC and ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: A 1968 graduate of Madison's LaFollette High School, Seeliger played football under former University of Wisconsin associate athletic director Otto Breitenbach. He received his Bachelor's degree in Mathematics from Iowa State University in 1972, where he was a starter at tight end when the Cyclones went to the Sun Bowl in 1971.

PERSONAL: Seeliger, 39, and his wife, Karen, have two daughters, Keri, 16, and Kori, 14.

MARIO RUSSO

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

MARIO RUSSO has been a distinguished member of the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department and football program for 13 years. After serving as an assistant football coach for nine seasons under both John Jardine and Dave McClain, Russo was named administrative assistant to the director in June of 1984, and will again act as administrative assistant to Head Coach Don Morton in 1989.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Russo originally joined the University of Wisconsin football staff in March of 1976, serving as linebacker coach in 1976 and 1977. When the late Dave McClain came in as the new head coach in 1978, Russo moved over to coach the offensive centers and guards for the next seven seasons (1978-84). From 1972-76, Russo was the defensive coordinator at Bowling Green State under Don Nehlen; from 1968-72 he was defensive coordinator at Denison University in Ohio; from 1963-68 he was linebacker coach for the University of Toledo; from 1961-63 he was an assistant coach at the University of Dayton; and from 1960-61 he was an assistant football coach at Heidelberg College in Ohio.

ACADEMIC/ATHLETIC BACKGROUND: A 1952 graduate of Barberton High School in Ohio, Russo earned a bachelor's degree in Education in 1957 from the University of Akron. He then gained his master's degree in Health and Physical Education from Kent State University in 1960.

PERSONAL: A native of Italy, Russo originally came to the United States in 1947. He and his wife, Marion, are the proud parents of five children: Anthony, Michael, Connie, Paul and Christopher.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

DR. A.L. 'ADE' SPONBERG

A new era in University of Wisconsin athletics began in the fall of 1987, as the school welcomed a new athletic director in Dr. A. L. 'Ade' Sponberg.

Named to the post on May 15, 1987, Sponberg now marks his third year at the helm of the University of Wisconsin athletic program in 1989-90. He officially succeeded Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch, who served 18 years in that position, on July 1, 1987.

In just two short years, Sponberg has made a positive impact on the University of Wisconsin athletic scene. He has been instrumental in instituting a comprehensive marketing program for the athletic department, has made the "business" side of the program a top priority, was a key figure in the addition of the Dave McClain Athletic Facility to the department's athletic facilities, and was a catalyst in securing the 1993 NCAA Ice Hockey Championships for the city of Milwaukee this past May.

Just 52 years of age, Sponberg already has 21 years of experience as a collegiate athletic director under his belt, including a tenure at North Dakota State University from 1973-87. In addition to his AD's position at NDSU, Sponberg also held the rank of professor and chaired the Division of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics.

The athletic program at NDSU enjoyed a highly successful period under Sponberg's leadership. From 1982-85, North Dakota State was the all-sports champion of the North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, the football team won NCAA Division II national championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986, and the men's and women's basketball teams as well as the women's volleyball team all reached NCAA Division II playoffs.

Among the football coaches Sponberg hired while athletic director at North Dakota State were Jim Wacker, now head coach at Texas Christian University, and current Wisconsin head coach Don Morton.

Prior to his period of service at NDSU, Ade was athletic director at Augustana College in Sioux Falls, South Dakota from 1968-73.

He has also been heavily involved in NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) governance and policymaking throughout his distinguished career as an athletic administrator. At the time of his hiring at Wisconsin in the Spring of 1987, Ade was a member of the NCAA Council and was NCAA Division II vice-president. He also served as an NCAA Administrative Committee member from 1984-86. Since 1976, Sponberg has served on nine other NCAA committees, dealing with such issues as recruiting, legislation and interpretation, television and eligibility. Currently, he is an active member of committees involving the WCHA (Western Collegiate Hockey Association).

Ade's academic background is impressive as well. He earned a Ph.D. in Physical Education and Athletic Administration from the University of Michigan in 1968, received a master's degree in Physical Education from Mankato State University in 1963, and earned a bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Gustavus Adolphus College in 1958.

He and his lovely wife, Donna, have two children, Steve, 31, and Kari, 29.

KIT SAUNDERS-NORDEEN

Associate Athletic Director Personnel/Public Relations/ Academic Services/Development

Dr. Katherine "Kit" Saunders-Nordeen, associate athletic director, is in her 16th year with the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department.

As a member of the management team, Saunders-Nordeen is responsible for personnel, public relations, academic services and development.

A native of Teaneck, New Jersey, Kit originally joined the UW staff in 1974 as its first director of women's intercollegiate athletics. She is a 1962 graduate of Trenton (NJ) State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Health and Physical Education. Kit first came to Wisconsin in 1964 and received her Master of Science degree in 1966. She then earned her Ph.D. in Educational Administration in 1977.

Among her many individual accolades, Kit was first vice-president of the AIAW from 1979-82, was the first inductee into the UW's Women's Athletic Hall of Fame (1984) and was selected for the YWCA Woman of Distinction Award in 1986.

Kit and her husband, Buzz, reside in Madison. He is a long-time member of the Madison business community.

ELROY HIRSCH

Retired Athletic Director

Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch retired as the University of Wisconsin's athletic director on June 30, 1987 ending eighteen years of service—longest ever by an athletic director in the school's history.

1989 marks his third year serving as a consultant to current UW athletic director A.L. 'Ade' Sponberg. Elroy is also working in the area of fund-raising for the new Dave McClain Athletic Facility.

Hirsch played collegiately at Wisconsin in 1942, leading the Badgers' to a top national ranking and an 8-1-1 record, and at Michigan in 1943, helping the Wolverines to a 8-1 mark. Elroy's fabled Badger jersey, No. 40, was retired in ceremonies held during the 1988 football campaign.

Following World War II, Hirsch gained everlasting fame as the star flanker of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

A member of the NFL Hall of Fame, the National Football Hall of Fame, the all-time Ram and NFL All-Star teams, the Wisconsin Athletic Hall of Fame, the Michigan Hall of Honor, the Madison Sports Hall of Fame, and the National High School Hall of Fame, 'Legs' is a living legend in football circles around the country.

Elroy and his wife, Ruth, continue to make Madison their home.

DIANE JOHNSON

Assistant Athletic Director Student Personnel Services

Dr. Diane Johnson marks her 12th year with the UW Athletic Department in 1989-90. She was appointed assistant director of athletics for student personnel services in May of 1978.

Student Personnel Services offers counseling for UW student-athletes in four major areas: academic, economic, civic and career.

Johnson is a 1954 honors graduate of the UW with a Bachelor of Science degree in Medical Microbiology. She received her Ph.D. from the UW in History of Science in 1971. Diane also served the school's College of Letters and Science as Assistant Dean of Student Academic Affairs from 1968 to 1978.

DUANE KLEVEN

Assistant Athletic Director Men's Varsity Sports

Duane Kleven is in his sixth year as an assistant athletic director for men's varsity sports at the UW. He assumed his present position in April, 1984.

A native of Stoughton, Wisconsin, Kleven is a 1961 graduate of the UW with a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education. He earned a Master's in Physical Education from Wisconsin in 1963.

Prior to moving into administration, Duane was a wrestling coach at the UW for 13 seasons, leading his Badger teams to a dual meet record of 134-48-5. He was selected NCAA Coach of the Year in 1977 by the National Wrestling Coaches Association, was the United States Wrestling Federation's Coach of the Year in 1976, and was named to the Wisconsin Wrestling Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 1980. After retiring as wrestling coach, he was named Director of the Camp Randall Memorial Sports Center, where he served until the spring of 1984.

Duane and his wife, Mona, are the parents of a married son, Kurt, and a married daughter, Charlotte. They also have a three-year-old granddaughter, Claire.

JOEL MATURI

Assistant Athletic Director Facilities and Events

Joel Maturi was named assistant athletic director for facilities and events for the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department in December of 1986, and assumed his duties in March of 1987.

Maturi, 44, is a 1967 graduate of Notre Dame where he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science. The Chisholm, Minnesota native received his Master's degree from UW-Platteville in 1985 in Educational Professional Development.

He began his professional career at Madison's Edgewood High School in 1968 in the Social Studies Department. During his distinguished career there,

Joel Maturi

Jerry Fishbain

Oscar Damman

Richard Schrock

Len Bryson

he successfully coached the school's track (1969), baseball (1970-72), football (1972-81) and basketball (1971-86) teams, earning Madison's "Coach of the Year" award a total of seven times. He also took six of his Edgewood basketball teams to the WISAA State Tournament.

In 1976, Maturi became Edgewood's Dean of Students, serving in that capacity until 1984 when he was named Associate Principal of the school.

Joel and his wife, Lois, have three children—Mark, Katie and Ann.

JERRY FISHBAIN

Assistant to the Athletic Director

Marking his tenth year with the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department in 1989-90 is Jerry Fishbain, assistant to the athletic director.

A native of Racine, Wisconsin, Fishbain handles special projects as assigned by athletic director Ade Sponberg.

From 1980-87, Fishbain was the recruiting coordinator as well as a special teams coach for the Badger football team. He came to the UW from the University of Minnesota in 1980, where he was also the recruiting coordinator. Prior to his tenure at Minnesota, he was the defensive head coach and assistant admissions director at UW-River Falls.

Fishbain is a 1955 graduate of UW-LaCrosse, where he earned a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education. He received his Master's from Wisconsin in 1960 and was enrolled in the Educational Administration doctoral program for four years.

Following UW Army service, Fishbain started his coaching career in 1957 at Colby High School, where he coached all sports. He moved on to Racine Horlick High in 1959 and became the head football coach in 1961 and then added the duties of athletic director from 1966-68. From 1970-75, he served at the UW-Milwaukee in a variety of roles, including head football coach, athletic business manager and assistant athletic director.

Jerry and his wife, Janet, are the parents of three children—Jason, Sarah, and Rachel.

ALAN ZUSSMAN

Assistant to Director
Student Personnel Services

Alan Zussman, assistant to the director, first joined the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department in 1977 after serving as assistant dean in the College of Letters and Science.

Zussman assists student-athletes by advising them academically and interpreting NCAA and Big Ten Conference rules and regulations.

A member of four campus committees, he also serves a liason function with faculty and staff in representing the department as well as individual student-athletes.

A native of Maywood, Illinois, Alan studied Communication Arts at Wisconsin and earned his Master's degree in 1975.

OSCAR DAMMAN

Assistant to Director

Oscar Damman, assistant to the director, has enjoyed a long and distinguished association with the University of Wisconsin—one that spans more than 54 years.

He has served in various capacities at Wisconsin and has been with the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics since 1956. His dedication and total interest in the Division has been a great asset to the Division and its overall picture.

Oscar and his wife, Ellie, make Madison their home.

RICHARD SCHROCK

Athletic Business Manager

A native of Rockford, Illinois, Schrock is a 1967 graduate of UW-Whitewater with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

Dick and his wife, Connie, reside in Madison.

LEN BRYSON

Athletic Ticket Manager

Len Bryson marks his fourth year as ticket manager for the UW Athletic Department in 1987, after being named to the post in September of 1986.

Bryson, who originally came to the UW in 1984, is a 1962 graduate of Indiana University with a B.A. in Health, Physical Eduacation and Recreation. He earned a Master's degree in Education from Southern Illinois in 1963, and a Doctorate in Athletic Administration from the University of Alabama in 1974.

Prior to coming to Wisconsin, Len was an associate professor and gymnastics coach at Memphis State for ten years.

Len and his wife, Terry, have two sons—Stefan and Scott. Terry is the head coach of the UW women's gymnastics team.

ALAN FISH

Interim Finance Officer

Alan Fish was named interim finance officer for the UW Athletic Department on March 13, 1989. His responsibilities for the year include assisting the athletic director in budget plans, helping develop a five-year financial plan for the department, and evaluating existing financial information systems and recommending improvements for reporting all sources and uses of revenues.

Fish, 37, came to the UW after heading the Division of Policy and Budget for the State Department of Health and Social Services since January, 1987. He also served as legislative liaison and advisor to former Wisconsin governor Anthony Earl from 1985-86.

Fish is a 1973 graduate of Luther College, earning a Bachelor's degree in Religion and Political Science. He then went on to earn a Master's from the University of Wisconsin in 1979 in Urban and Regional Planning.

Alan and his wife, Susan Goodwin, have three children—Cassandra, nine, Molly, three, and Nicholas, one.

JOHN SWENSON

Program Development Officer

John Swenson joined the UW Athletic Department in December, 1988 as a development officer.

Prior to his appointment with the Badgers, Swenson had been Director of Development, U.S.A., for the InterVarsity Christian Fellowship in Madison since 1985. Director of planned giving for two years, he was named director of development in April, 1987, with responsibility for the Fellowship's overall fund-raising program.

Swenson earned his B.S. degree in Business Administration from Wayne State College in Nebraska and his M.B.A. in Marketing from the University of Wisconsin. Before joining the Intervarsity Fellowship, he worked in financial planning and sales for Metropolitan and Liberty Life in Madison and did marketing research and analysis for several Iowa firms.

TRAINING STAFF

DENNIS HELWIG

Training Staff Coordinator

In his 15th year with the University of Wisconsin in 1989-90 is Dennis Helwig, who serves as Training Staff Coordinator.

In addition to coordinating the day-to-day operation of the entire athletic training department, Helwig's major responsibility is with the Badger football team, where he serves as head trainer.

A 1974 graduate of the UW, Helwig received his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education. He worked professionally with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League in 1974 before joining the Wisconsin staff.

Dennis also had the distinction of serving as Head Trainer of the 1984 US Olympic Hockey Team at the Winter Games in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, and was a trainer at the World University Games in Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

He and his wife, Jan, reside in Madison. She is also a member of the UW athletic training staff.

GORDON STODDARD

Assistant Trainer

Gordon Stoddard, one of the most respected individuals in his profession in the country, is in his 21st year with the University of Wisconsin athletic training staff. The coordinator of athletic training curriculum at Wisconsin since 1985, he is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA).

A native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Stoddard earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education from Rocky Mountain College in Billings, Montana in 1958. He received a Master's degree in Education from Kent State University in 1965.

Following his education, Stoddard then spent four years as head trainer at Central Michigan University before coming to the UW in 1969.

Stoddard served as Wisconsin's head trainer for 16 years before taking over as the coordinator of the athletic training curriculum in 1985.

Gordie and his wife, Vernie, make Madison their home. She is secretary for the Monona Gridiron Club.

ANDY WINTERSTEIN

Assistant Trainer

Andy Winterstein is in his fourth year as a member of the Wisconsin training staff. A certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), Andy is also the head basketball trainer for the University of Wisconsin.

A native of Phoenix, Arizona, he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education from the University of Arizona in 1984. Winterstein also worked for the Houston Astros baseball organization as the Head Athletic Trainer for three seasons in the New York–Penn league.

Andy earned his Master of Science degree in Physical Education with an emphasis in Applied Physiology and Athletic Training from the University of Oregon in 1986.

JAN HELWIG

Assistant Trainer

Jan Helwig enters her 12th year as a member of the training staff at the University of Wisconsin in 1989–90.

In addition to her day-to-day duties as a full-time trainer, Jan serves as the Head Trainer for the University of Wisconsin ice hockey team. She was one of four trainers assigned to ice hockey at the 1987 Olympic Festival in North Carolina.

A certified National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) member, Jan also served as a host athletic trainer at the 1980 Winter Olympic Games in Lake Placid, New York.

Her husband, Dennis, is the training staff coordinator at the UW.

MICHAEL JOHNSON

Assistant Trainer

Michael Johnson marks his second year as a full-time assistant athletic trainer for the UW in 1989–90.

A native of Minneapolis, Minnesota, Johnson assists with the Badger football team and is the head trainer for both the men's and women's track and field teams. He will also work with the Badger hockey team in 1989-90.

NATA-certified, Johnson received his Bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota in 1985 and received his Master's degree in Physical Education/Athletic Training from Michigan State University in 1987. While at MSU, he worked as both a football and hockey trainer.

JIM HYNE

Strength and Conditioning Coach

Jim Hyne, associated with the UW strength program for seven years, serves as assistant strength and conditioning coach and assists Ken Ellett with the football program.

A 1983 graduate of the UW, Jim earned his Master's degree in Educational Administration from Wisconsin in August, 1988. He was a letterwinner as a catcher for the Badger baseball team in 1981.

In addition to his work with the football team, Hyne coordinates the strength and conditioning programs for the ice hockey and basketball teams as well as men's and women's varsity sports.

Jim and his wife, Cindy, have a one-year-old daughter, Ashley.

THE MEDICAL STAFF

GREG LANDRY, M.D.

Head Medical Team Physician

Dr. Greg Landry, assistant professor of Pediatrics at the University of Wisconsin, is the head medical team physician for Badger athletic teams.

Landry is a 1976 graduate of Butler University in Indiana, where he was a former quarterback. He graduated from the Indiana University School of Medicine and received all of his training in pediatrics and adolescent medicine at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Landry practices at both the Department of Pediatrics and the UW Hospital Sports Medicine Center.

JIM KEENE, M.D.

Team Physician

Serving as a team physician and team orthopedic surgeon for UW Athletics since 1975 is Dr. Jim Keene.

Keene has been an associate professor since 1983, and has also been co-director of the UW Spinal Injury Center since 1977.

He earned his B.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1966 and his M.D. from the UW in 1970. He also served as class president in the years 1966, 1968 and 1969. Following his student years at the UW, Keene did graduate work at San Francisco General Hospital. In 1971, he came back to the UW for residency in orthopedic surgery, graduating from his residency in 1975.

Jim and his wife, Cindy, have two sons, Jared, five, and Andrew, two.

BEN GRAF

Team Physician

Dr. Ben Graf, assistant professor at the University of Wisconsin since 1985, serves as a team physician for UW Athletics.

Specializing in knee and shoulder injuries, Graf earned his B.S. degree from Wisconsin in 1975. He then earned his M.D. degree with honors from the UW in 1979. He did both his internship and residency at Wisconsin.

Among his notables were a fellowship in Long Beach, California from July, 1984 to January, 1985, and a trauma fellowship in Bern, Switzerland from March to June, 1985.

Ben's wife's name is Nedi.

The fabled Paul Bunyan Axe, awarded each year to the winner of the Wisconsin-Minnesota game. The axe, presented by Wisconsin's National "W" Club beginning in 1948, is the symbol of one of college football's longest and most colorful rivalries. The Badgers and the Golden Gophers had met 98 consecutive years since 1890 heading into the '89 campaign. After a four-year stay in Minneapolis, the Badgers regained possession of the Paul Bunyan Axe with a 14-7 Camp Randall Stadium victory last November.

Late Wisconsin head coach Dave McClain extends congratulations to All-America noseguard Tim Krumrie following the Badgers' memorable 26-21 victory over Minnesota in 1981. The win gave the UW a berth in the Garden State Bowl, the school's first post-season bowl game since the 1963 Rose Bowl.

*All-America Conference †USFL ‡World Football League

(This list of Wisconsin alumni who have played professional football has been compiled by the University of Wisconsin Sports News Service staff from available sources)

Alan "The Horse" Ameche presented his original Heisman Trophy to UW Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch for permanent display at the university.

FOUR BADGER NUMBERS RETIRED

Four football jersey numbers have been retired in Wisconsin's 100-year football history. They are No. 80, worn by All-American end Dave Schreiner in 1941 and 1942, No. 83, worn by quarterback Allan J. Shafer in 1944, No. 40, worn by standout Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch in 1942, and No. 35, worn by All-American fullback Alan "The Horse" Ameche.

Schreiner was killed in action with the U.S. Marine Corps during the battle of Okinawa in June of 1945. Shaffer was fatally injured in the second half of the 1944 Wisconsin-Iowa football game and passed away shortly after the Badgers had defeated the Hawkeyes by a 26-7 count in Camp Randall Stadium on November 11, 1944.

Hirsch, who led the Badgers to a No. 3 national ranking and a 8-1-1 record in 1942, enjoyed a stellar career with the Los Angeles Rams in pro football, served as the UW's athletic director for 18 years, and is a member of the NFL's Hall of Fame, the College Football Hall of Fame, and the National High School Hall of Fame.

Ameche, Wisconsin's only Heisman Trophy winner, wore No. 35 during the 1951-54 era, during which he established an NCAA record of 3,212 rushing yards for a career.

THE WISCONSIN FOOTBALL COMPLEX

Tantamount to the success of any collegiate athletic program today are top-notch facilities. Here at the University of Wisconsin, the Badger football team is blessed with some of the nation's best.

The Wisconsin football team utilizes impressive 77,745-seat Camp Randall Stadium, the ninth largest college-owned football structure in the nation, for home games as well as outdoor practices and the beautiful new Dave McClain Athletic Facility for indoor practices, weight training, sports medicine, team meetings, film sessions and lockerroom facilities.

The mammoth double-deck, horseshoe-designed Camp Randall Stadium also houses the UW coaches' offices, lounge, conference and study areas for players and visitors, film rooms, and an extensive display of Badger Football memorabilia. From the impressive surroundings of the office of head coach Don Morton and a display area featuring three Rose Bowl games and Alan Ameche's original Heisman Trophy, to a photo display of former Badger standouts—including such NFL stars as Al Toon, Tim Krumrie, Mike Webster, Nate Odomes, Randy Wright, Rick Graf, Paul Gruber and Jeff Dellenbach—the Wisconsin football complex is truly complete.

This fall, the University of Wisconsin Football program takes another giant step forward as the Badgers begin their first full season of residency in the Dave McClain indoor practice facility. A state-of-the-art building, the McClain Athletic Facility contains an artificial turf practice area (including enough clearance space for both kicking and punting), a comfortable, completely furnished lounge, spacious locker rooms, an impressive weight-training setup, an athletic training room, a lap pool for rehabilitation of injuries, and various supply and storage areas. The McClain Athletic Facility connects directly to Camp Randall Stadium via an enclosed walkway for easy access from the football offices.

On game days, the Badger Football team dresses in the McClain Center, and then completes the walk onto the Camp Randall Stadium turf via a series of enclosed walkways.

The front lobby of the Wisconsin football complex features a comfortable lounge area, trophy case and assorted historical memorabilia.

Head Coach Don Morton's spacious office

Each assistant football coach at the UW also has his own comfortable "home away from home"—permitting one-on-one meetings with players and visitors.

The multi-level football complex also includes study and lounge areas for the players.

The latest in technology has also recently come to the Wisconsin football program as the University gears up for its second century of gridiron action. Shown here is a new computerized setup for analyzing game films and individual player performances.

Badger football coaches make use of several meeting rooms in the main office complex, including this one particularly for staff meetings

THE WISCONSIN STRENGTH PROGRAM

At the University of Wisconsin, the "physical fitness" of student-athletes is of primary concern.

Under the guidance of Director of Football Operations Ken Ellett and strength assistant Jim Hyne, the school's strength program is recognized as one of the most successful and complete in the Big Ten.

Strength training at Wisconsin consists of several year-round programs. For Badger football players, for instance, the strength program includes a pre-season training program, in-season and winter conditioning programs, and spring and summer programs as well. The football team ordinarily uses the strength training facility two hours per day, four days per week.

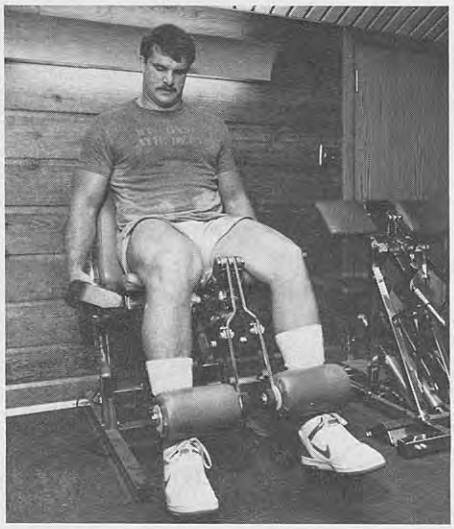
Each sport that utilizes the weight rooms is fully supervised by the UW strength staff. They will analyze and chart an individual athlete's week-by-week progress, as well as plan individual and team conditioning programs for the school's men's and women's sports. Strength training at the University of Wisconsin means more than just weight lifting. It also includes agility and flexibility development.

Open from 7:00 am to 8:00 pm six days per week, Camp Randall's 4,000 square foot Wisconsin weight room contains some of the finest training equipment on the market today. The football team makes use of some 38,000 pounds of free weight, 21 olympic bars, 21 free-weight stations, seven squat stations (of which four are electric squat racks), ten bench press stations, four wall-pully cable stations, five pieces of Keiser equipment (based on pneumatic pressure and used especially for high-speed training), and three full set dumbbells (5–100 pounds, in five-pound increments).

It's been a good setup, but the best is yet to come. With the Badger football team commemorating its first full year in the new Dave McClain Athletic Facility in 1989, comes a new, state-of-the-art computerized weight training room that consists of some 7,000 square feet of weight training areas.

Along with all new weight training equipment, there is a separate computer room for evaluating athletes, a maintenance room, strength training offices, and a glass-enclosed conference area with seating for ten to 15 people.

1987 starting center Rod Lossow was 230 pounds when he enrolled as a freshman in 1983. As a senior, he was listed at 272 with a tremendous increase in strength and endurance.



1987 All-American offensive tackle Paul Gruber, shown working out on one of the five pieces of modern Keiser equipment included in the UW weight training room, is a prime example of the physical development athletes can achieve through the school's comprehensive strength program.

The 4,000 square foot strength training facility includes 21 free-weight stations, seven squat stations (including four electric squat racks), ten bench press stations, four wall-pulley cable stations, and more than 38,000 pounds of free weights.

ATHLETIC TRAINING FACILITIES

The Wisconsin Athletic Training Department is also housed in both Camp Randall Stadium and the Dave McClain Athletic Facility.

Six full-time trainers, under the direction of staff coordinator Dennis Helwig, two graduate assistants, and some 20 student-trainers are on hand each day to assist the more than 900 University of Wisconsin student-athletes in their complex, personal needs.

In addition to the main training facilities in Camp Randall Stadium and the new Dave McClain Athletic Facility, the department also has five satellite facilities around the campus. There is one at the UW Fieldhouse, the Red Gym, the Natatorium, the Dane County Memorial Coliseum, and Nielsen Tennis Stadium.

Helwig and his staff put the main emphasis of their work on preventive programs. Their daily routines include coordinating the physiological testing of athletes, enlisting computer programs such as Anjion (dietary analysis) to provide nutritional information to athletes, utilizing Cybex strength-testing devices in the evaluation of strength weaknesses, working with attending physicians in rehabilitation of student-athletes, working to improve individual athletic performance, and outlining preventive stretching programs to aid in avoiding the recurrence of past injuries. The trainers also advise athletes as to what type of treatments they should do and refer them to appropriate physicians.

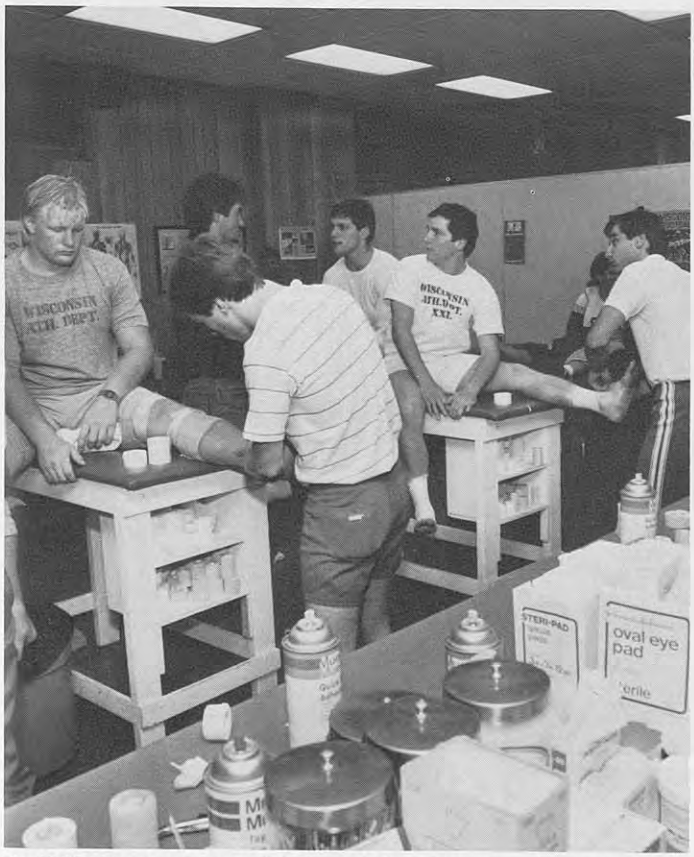
Thanks to the introduction of computers into the training department several years ago, the UW staff now has the capability of tracking sports injuries; in other words, diagnosing when and where these injuries most often occur. This information has proved extremely helpful to coaches in devising conditioning programs and practices for their teams.

The UW training staff is also proud of their close working relationship with Madison-area physicians, some of whom regularly visit the campus to see injured athletes. Working directly with the Wisconsin football team are orthopedic surgeons Jim Keene and Ben Graf, and Dr. Greg Landry, who handles internal medical problems for UW athletics.

"The frequency of visits to the campus by our attending physicians," reports Helwig, "helps us with rehabilitation programs and shortens significantly the return to competition for our injured athletes. These individuals make a very large and very important contribution to the success of our athletic programs."

The Madison area is blessed with some of the best medical facilities anywhere—including the renowned UW Hospital and Clinics. UW athletes are always seen on a priority basis, and are assured of only the very best in medical care.

UW training staff coordinator Dennis Helwig directs a staff of six trainers, several graduate assistants and some 20 student trainers.



The UW training room is one of the busiest places on campus during the football season, as the staff attends to the needs of more than 120 student-athletes.

THE DAVE McCLAIN ATHLETIC FACILITY

The University of Wisconsin is justly proud of its long and distinguished tradition of success in intercollegiate athletics, one that includes 100 years of Badger gridiron history.

But within any winning athletic tradition, one will find a complex combination of ingredients; "building blocks" that are essential to the development and maintenance of that success. These "building blocks" include the recruitment and development of talented student-athletes, outstanding coaches, faithful supporters and fans, and modern facilities.

With the success of Badger Football (football revenues provide nearly 80 percent of the financial support for UW Athletics) impacting on the entire 25-sport men's and women's athletic program, the school has maintained a constant program of upgrading existing facilities as well as continued planning for future additions that should help ensure the continued good health of its athletic teams.

The monumental Dave McClain Athletic Facility, named in honor of the late Wisconsin football coach, is helping to usher in a new era in University of Wisconsin Athletics.

Head football coach Don Morton said the indoor facility is critical to the success of his football program. "The construction of the McClain facility is a statement of commitment that the university wants to compete at the highest echelon of Big Ten football," he said.

Officially opened in 1988, the 166,264-square foot Dave McClain Athletic Facility compares with the finest indoor training facilities in the world. For Badger Football, it provides a pleasant environment that improves practice conditions during in-season inclement weather and post-season practice periods, and it assists student-athletes in their off-season conditioning and skill development.

"This is a state-of-the-art facility," said facility architect Ronald Bowen. "We examined a number of other practice facilities, and this has to be considered among the elite indoor facilities in the nation."

The 76,380-square foot main floor of the new facility features an artificial turf practice area, with adequate space for all components of practice including height for kicking and punting. The building's 64,320-square foot lower level houses showers, lockerroom and dressing areas, a modern athletic training area - including hydrotheraphy space, supply and storage areas, and a new, fully-equipped weight-training room. The upper level consists of 5,300 square feet of space.

At a total cost of $9.5 million, the Dave McClain Athletic Facility has been constructed on an outdoor practice field immediately north of Camp Randall Memorial Sports Center. The domed structure is bordered on the north by the Engineering building, the east by Camp Randall Park, and on the west by parking lot #17 and Camp Randall Stadium. Direct access is provided via a corridor from the facility to the football offices in the stadium.

The focus of the McClain Facility is, of course, the 90-yard artificial turf practice field. The 76,380-square-foot main floor even has enough height for kicking and punting practice.

The lower level includes a 7,000-square-foot weight training area, featuring some of the very best in equipment.

McCLAIN FACILITY CONSTRUCTION FACTS

The Dave McClain Center was constructed in two phases. The main floor construction, referred to as "Phase I," was begun in July of 1987 and consisted of a 330-foot by 220-foot concrete floor supporting a 90-yard artificial turf practice field. In addition, a 2,700 square foot viewing and reception area is housed on the main level. The "Booster Room" will contain a memorial to Coach Dave McClain and other assorted Wisconsin football memorabilia.

The "Phase II" construction period, completed this past winter, included the full lower level beneath the main floor. This lower level houses team facilities that include lockerrooms, showers, a sauna and steam room, a rehabilitation pool, a weight training facility, equipment storage area, athletic training and sports medicine facilities, offices and a media interview room.

The second floor area above the main floor entrance contains comfortable, attractive classrooms, a 150-person capacity auditorium and a direct access to Camp Randall Stadium. The McClain Center supports activities of both the stadium and the Camp Randall Memorial Sports Center.

To fully appreciate the scope of the Dave McClain Athletic facility, one need only examine just what went into the construction of the facility. To begin with, there are 166,000 square feet in the facility. To make room for the building, some 70,000 cubic yards of earth had to be dug up and removed. Among the materials? Try 6,500 cubic yards of concrete, 75,000 concrete blocks, 1,550 gallons of paint, 4,300 square feet of carpeting, 2.5 miles of heating/cooling piping, 2.8 miles of plumbing piping, 101,000 square feet of stainless steel roof material, 35,000 pounds of ductwork, 27 miles of electrical wiring, 40,000 square feet of electrical conduit, and 43,000 square feet of roof fabric.

One of the more impressive features of the second floor is a 150-capacity auditorium, used for press conferences, team meetings and viewing films.

A unique rehabilitation swimming pool is housed in the lower level.

Yes, it's true—the McClain Facility even boasts a sauna and steam room.

A comfortable lounge area awaits visitors and users at the front entrance of the facility.

CAMP RANDALL STADIUM

Camp Randall Stadium, the home of the University of Wisconsin Football Team, is recognized as one of the finest collegiate facilities in the nation.

From its impressive doubledeck, horseshoe design and 77,745-seat capacity, to its modern and spacious Communications Center, the UW is proud that its sports center is more than just an athletic field.

The ninth largest college-owned structure in the nation and third largest in the Big Ten, Camp Randall's official capacity of 77,745 is surpassed only by Michigan (101,701), Tennessee (91,249), Ohio State (85,290), Stanford (84,795), Penn State (83,770), Georgia (82,122), Texas (80,000) and Clemson (78,915).

Wisconsin football teams have played before season averages of more than 70,000 fans per game 12 times since 1972 and have ranked among the nation's top 15 in attendance several times. Since 1972, the Badgers have drawn a total of 1,172,194 fans, a per season average of 68,953 per game. Wisconsin teams have drawn crowds of more than 77,000 on 17 occasions since 1980, and on 30 occasions since 1975. The all-time single game attendance record at Camp Randall Stadium is 80,024, set against Michigan in 1978.

Located atop the west side of Camp Randall's double deck, the Communications Center ranks as one of the nation's finest facilities for press, radio and television. The Communications Center contains working areas for more than 300 athletic staff and media personnel throughout its three levels. The third level is composed of radio and television broadcast booths. The fourth level is reserved for the UW Sports News Service, print media, UW athletic staff, statistical crews, visiting dignitaries, and competing coaches. The fifth level, meanwhile, houses private corporation boxes, game film areas, and is also used for television broadcasts.

In addition to serving as the home of Wisconsin Football, Camp Randall Stadium also houses the UW Athletic Department and the office of the National "W" Club.

THE NOTEWORTHY HISTORY OF CAMP RANDALL

Although the original structure was built in 1917, the history of the Camp Randall area itself dates back much further than the 70+ years of the stadium.

In the years prior to the Civil War, the original site was owned by the State Agricultural Society, whose yearly state fairs attracted holiday throngs there.

When the Civil War broke out in 1861, however, the society turned the land over to the government to become Wisconsin's major military training center. Named for a wartime governor, the site became known as "Camp Randall Military Training Center."

The land became the state fair grounds again when peace returned, and when General U.S. Grant visited it 15 years later, he hailed the transformation from a wartime military training center to the site of the annual state fair as "a symbol of beating the spears of war into the plowshares of peace." (Others who had visited the grounds included General Sherman, General Sheridan and President Hayes.)

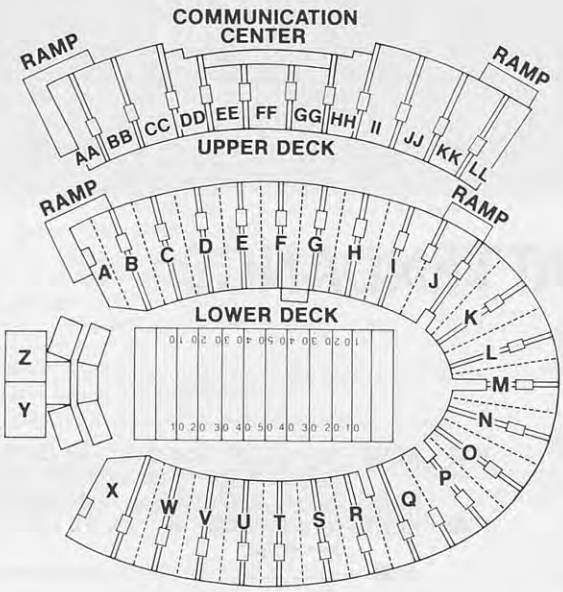
At the corner of Monroe and Regent Streets . . . an early 1900s Wisconsin football practice.

In the early 1930s, the stadium included seating for more than 32,000. The UW Fieldhouse is in the foreground.

Expansion of the east side of the stadium raised capacity to 45,000 in 1940.

The horseshoe was completed in the early '50s, bringing capacity to 51,000.

Today's Camp Randall Stadium, home of the football Badgers and 77,745 of the nation's most enthusiastic fans.



Following the eventual move of the Wisconsin State Fair to Milwaukee, it was decided that the land should be sold for building lots. This decision infuriated surviving Civil War veterans. Blasting this "sordid sacrilege," they promptly urged the legislature to purchase the land, and in 1893 the State of Wisconsin presented the site to the University as a memorial athletic field. And when the question of a name arose, the vets naturally carried the day for "camp" instead of "field."

Football became part of the University of Wisconsin athletic scene in 1889, but the first games were actually played on the lower part of the campus, with a part of the crowd regularly watching from fringed surreys. (Wisconsin won its first great victory at home in 1894, defeating Minnesota 6-0.)

The University had a "real" stadium by 1913, but the stands were still constructed of wood. The legislature had declined to pay the extra expense of concrete and consequently, a large section collapsed on Nov. 21, 1915, and injured 20 spectators. (Only the fact that the seats fell slowly prevented more casualties from among the 1,800 in the area.)

In 1917, a new 10,000-seat concrete structure was begun with a grant of $15,000 from the state legislature. The rest of the money to finance the project was earned through University athletic events.

The first game to be played in the "new" Camp Randall Stadium in 1917 was the memorable Homecoming matchup with the Minnesota Golden Gophers—a game the Badgers won 10-7.

In 1921, capacity was increased to 29,783, then to 38,293 in 1926, and to 45,000 in 1940. The first of three enlargements following World War II took place in 1950-51 with completion of the horseshoe at the north end of the stadium, which increased capacity to 51,000.

In 1958 the running track was eliminated from Camp Randall, the playing field was lowered ten feet, and 12,000 more seats were added to give the facility a total of 63,435 seats. The addition of the second deck on the west side in 1966 created 13,000 more prime viewing seats, as well as construction of the modern Communications Center, and capacity rose to 77,745.

1984 saw the creation of 14 private boxes—each with seating for up to ten people—on the fifth level of the Communications Center, while a 1985 construction project on the third level of the Communications Center created ten new booths for radio broadcasts.

Nursing, Pharmacy, and Allied Health Professions Schools; UW Hospital and Clinics; State Laboratory of Hygiene; UW Health Service; and Wisconsin Clinical Cancer Center—one of 21 designated cancer centers in the country.

More than 400 campus organizations offer a wide variety of activities for Wisconsin students—including social, political, philosophic or religious, sports, honorary, ecological, philanthropic, drama and music groups, plus fraternities and sororities. Film societies show 400 titles a year, and the intramural recreation program services some 35,000 students and staff at five indoor recreational facilities every month.

The University's complete intercollegiate athletic program includes men's competition in football, basketball, ice hockey, track and field, soccer, swimming, tennis, rowing, wrestling, baseball, cross country, golf, gymnastics and fencing.

The Wisconsin Union has been providing a variety of services and an extensive program of social, cultural, and recreational events for students. Memorial Union, on the shores of Lake Mendota, is a center of activity for some 18,000 people every day. Another 10,000 enter Union South, and more than 11,000 meals are served daily in the Wisconsin Union's 11 restaurants and delis.

The Elvehjem Museum of Art, the second largest art museum in the state, houses the University's collection of more than 10,000 paintings, prints, drawings, sculpture, and decorative arts dating from 2300 B.C. to the present, and maintains an active schedule of temporary exhibits.

University Theatre, School of Music, and the Dance Division offer a wide range of performances throughout the year. Facilities include the Ronald E. Mitchell and Gilbert Hemsley Theaters in Vilas Communication Hall, Mills Concert Hall, Morphy Recital Hall, and the Eastman Organ Recital Hall. The Wisconsin Union Theater, with 1,300 seats, hosts visiting concert artists, orchestras, professional theater and dance companies, conferences, lectures and films.

Situated amidst five freshwater lakes and rolling hills, the University of Wisconsin-Madison is one of the most enchanting campuses in America. It sits on the south shore of Lake Mendota, encompassing more than 300 buildings and 900 acres of land—most within two blocks of the lake. There is beautiful and green Bascom Hill. A 129-acre peninsula—complete with hiking trails—known as Picnic Point. There is the lively pedestrian State Street Mall—lined with unique shops and restaurants. The on-the-hour ringing bells of Carillon Tower and 77,745-seat Camp Randall Stadium.

Madison is the home of the University of Wisconsin System, and the state capital, in addition to being one of the Midwest's most vibrant communities. The May 1989 issue of Outside magazine rated Madison as one of the top 15 "great sports towns" in the country, based on such factors as quantity and quality of outdoor activities, the surrounding environment, and the participation of its population in various sports and recreation.

As you can see, the University of Wisconsin-Madison offers something for everyone. From an unsurpassed academic and educational environment to a wide variety of activities and excellence in athletics, UW students receive an experience they will cherish and benefit from the rest of their lives.
